University’s Mission Statement

James B. Duke’s founding Indenture of Duke University directed the members of the University to “provide real leadership in the educational world” by choosing individuals of “outstanding character, ability, and vision” to serve as its officers, trustees and faculty; by carefully selecting students of “character, determination and application;” and by pursuing those areas of teaching and scholarship that would “most help to develop our resources, increase our wisdom, and promote human happiness.”

To these ends, the mission of Duke University is to provide a superior liberal education to undergraduate students, attending not only to their intellectual growth but also to their development as adults committed to high ethical standards and full participation as leaders in their communities; to prepare future members of the learned professions for lives of skilled and ethical service by providing excellent graduate and professional education; to advance the frontiers of knowledge and contribute boldly to the international community of scholarship; to promote an intellectual environment built on a commitment to free and open inquiry; to help those who suffer, cure disease, and promote health, through sophisticated medical research and thoughtful patient care; to provide wide ranging educational opportunities, on and beyond our campuses, for traditional students, active professionals and life-long learners using the power of information technologies; and to promote a deep appreciation for the range of human difference and potential, a sense of the obligations and rewards of citizenship, and a commitment to learning, freedom and truth.

By pursuing these objectives with vision and integrity, Duke University seeks to engage the mind, elevate the spirit, and stimulate the best effort of all who are associated with the University; to contribute in diverse ways to the local community, the state, the nation and the world; and to attain and maintain a place of real leadership in all that we do.

The Duke Community Standard in Practice:
A Guide for Undergraduates

2015-2016
The information in this bulletin applies to the academic year 2015-2016 and is accurate and current, to the extent possible, as of July 2015. The university reserves the right to change programs of study, academic requirements, teaching staff, the calendar, and other matters described herein without prior notice, in accordance with established procedures.

Duke University is committed to encouraging and sustaining a learning and work community that is free from harassment and prohibited discrimination. The university prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, sex, genetic information, or age in the administration of its educational policies, admission policies, financial aid, employment, or any other university program or activity. The university also makes good faith efforts to recruit, employ, and promote qualified minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. It admits qualified students to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students. Duke University has designated Dr. Benjamin D. Reese, Vice President for Institutional Equity, as the individual responsible for the coordination and administration of its nondiscrimination and harassment policies generally. The Office for Institutional Equity is located in Smith Warehouse, 114 S. Buchanan Blvd., Bay 8, Durham, North Carolina 27708; 919-684-8222; ben.reese@duke.edu.

The university also does not tolerate harassment of any kind. Sexual harassment and sexual misconduct are forms of sex discrimination and prohibited. Duke University has designated Howard Kallem as its Director of Title IX Compliance and Age Discrimination Act Coordinator. He is also with the Office for Institutional Equity and can be contacted at 919-684-1437 or howard.kallem@duke.edu.

Questions or comments about discrimination, harassment, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking can be directed to the Office for Institutional Equity, 919-684-8222. Questions or comments about sex-based and sexual harassment, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking committed by a student can be directed to the Office of Student Conduct at 919-684-6938. Additional information, including the complete text of the university’s discrimination and harassment policies and appropriate complaint procedures, may be obtained by contacting the Office for Institutional Equity at web.duke.edu/equity or the Office of Student Conduct at studentaffairs.duke.edu/conduct.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99, is a federal law that guides the release of students’ education records, of which disciplinary records are a part. For additional information about FERPA, see www.ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/fpco/ferpa/index.html.

Duke University is prepared to make reasonable academic adjustments and accommodations to allow students with disabilities full participation in the same programs and activities available to students without disabilities. The Student Disability Access Office assists students with disabilities who are enrolled in Trinity College and the Pratt School of Engineering. In order to receive consideration for reasonable accommodations under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act or the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), a student must have a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities such as, but not limited to, hearing, seeing, speaking, breathing, performing manual tasks, walking, caring for oneself, and learning. Substantially limiting refers to an impairment that prevents an individual from performing a major life activity or significantly restricts the condition, manner, or duration under which an individual can perform a major life activity.

Students requesting accommodations under the provisions of Section 504 or the ADA (e.g., academic, housing, etc.) must consult Dot Mishoe, director, Student Disability Access Office, 919-684-8231 or 919-668-1329 TTY, to explore possible coverage. Students with medical conditions not covered under the provisions of ADA must consult Duke Student Health Services at 919-681-9355 for further information.

Duke University recognizes and utilizes electronic mail as a medium for official communications. The university provides all students with e-mail accounts as well as access to e-mail services from public clusters if students do not have personal computers of their own. All students are expected to access their e-mail accounts on a regular basis to check for and respond as necessary to such communications. Students are also required to provide an accurate local physical address and a cell phone number through ACES.

Information that the university is required to make available under the Student Right to Know and Campus Security Acts may be obtained from the Office of News and Communications at 919-684-2823 or in writing to 615 Chapel Drive, Box 90563, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina 27708.

Duke University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award baccalaureate, masters, doctorate, and professional degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of Duke University.

Duke Community Standard

Duke University is a community dedicated to scholarship, leadership, and service and to the principles of honesty, fairness, respect, and accountability. Citizens of this community commit to reflect upon and uphold these principles in all academic and non-academic endeavors, and to protect and promote a culture of integrity.

To uphold the Duke Community Standard:
- I will not lie, cheat, or steal in my academic endeavors;
- I will conduct myself honorably in all my endeavors; and
- I will act if the Standard is compromised.
Students’ Obligation to Act with Respect to the Duke Community Standard

The Duke Community Standard (DCS) stresses the commitment that students share with all members of the community to enhance the climate for honesty, fairness, respect, and accountability at Duke University. Students affirm their commitment to foster this climate by signing a pledge that includes taking constructive action if they witness or know about behavior they perceive to be inconsistent with the DCS, which may include violation of university policies. Although there are no disciplinary sanctions associated with the failure to act, students are nonetheless expected to take action—to do something—as a responsibility of membership in the Duke community.

The university recognizes that it is not always easy to act in these situations, but several alternatives are available to suit a student’s level of comfort and confidence. These alternatives are not mutually exclusive.

- Speaking directly with the individual exhibiting the behavior, both to gain clarity about the situation and to inform the individual about the concern.
- Publicly calling attention to the behavior as it is occurring.
- For incidents involving social behaviors, alerting residence hall, Student Affairs, or other university staff. The information provided will give staff an opportunity to address the matter informally or through appropriate formal channels.
- For cases involving academic integrity, alerting the instructor that cheating may be occurring in the course. This alert can be in any form, including anonymous notification, and the reporting student will not be identified. The information provided will allow the faculty member to consider corrective measures, in consultation with the Office of Student Conduct, and to address the topic with the class or suspected student(s).
- Directly alerting staff in the Office of Student Conduct (919-684-6938; conduct@duke.edu), who will confer with the faculty member involved, if an academic issue, or with the reporting student(s), strategizing next steps. Maintaining the confidentiality of the source is possible, but may limit the extent of action that can be taken.

The Context of the Duke Community Standard

The honor code at Duke is named the community standard because it expresses our institution’s core values and a concomitant set of expectations for behavior. Because behavior is derivative of fundamental values, the standard applies off campus as well as on. The principles it articulates, while lofty in one sense, are firmly grounded in individual decisions made on the ground every day about every aspect of undergraduate life, in academic and co-curricular activities alike: in the classroom, residence halls, K-ville, off-campus apartment complexes, Myrtle Beach, Paris, and wherever else students may go. In addition, the standard asks that students not only reflect on their own behavior, as important as that is, but that they also act to encourage the integrity of their peers. By inspiring and supporting each other, students can shape their environment so that it reflects the ideals expressed in the Duke Community Standard.

The Standard, therefore, expresses our goals for undergraduate education in the broadest sense and is foundational to undergraduate life at Duke. It is followed by an equally important pledge that students sign as members of the community.

Duke University seeks to engage all students in its tradition of honor, a tradition that defines the institution and helps to guide students during their college careers and beyond. The students here today, who are the beneficiaries of the efforts of those who preceded them, have an extraordinarily important role to play in perpetuating and strengthening this tradition. We welcome, and count on, your involvement.

The History of the Duke Community Standard

In 1999-2000, Duke participated in a national survey through the Center for Academic Integrity. Through responses from undergraduate students, as well as from faculty and staff, the survey assessed the climate of academic integrity at Duke in comparative context with other institutions. As a result of the findings, the provost formed the Academic Integrity Council (AIC) in 2001 by appointing representatives from across the community whose charge was and remains to review academic integrity policies and practices and make recommendations to improve the climate of integrity on campus.

An early goal of the AIC was to review the existing Honor Code, which had been in effect for the undergraduate community since 1993. The AIC determined that the Honor Code needed revision to make it shorter while embracing all aspects of a student’s life at Duke. A major element of the revision was the inclusion of the fundamental values that must inform the definition of a community of honor.

This Duke Community Standard was proposed to the faculty councils of Trinity College of Arts and Sciences and the Pratt School of Engineering, as well as to the Duke Student Government. It was approved for the undergraduate community and implemented in the fall of 2003. The Standard was also incorporated into the code of each graduate and professional school of the university and, thus, represents the values we uphold as an institution.

Duke University is committed to ongoing evaluation of principles, policies, and practices, and to lively conversation about issues of integrity. Thus, Duke participated again in a national survey on academic integrity in the fall of 2005 and in intensive discussions of academic and social integrity from summer 2006 through spring 2007. The result of these continuing and broadened discussions was a revised Community Standard, put before the undergraduate student body in a student government referendum of April 2007 and overwhelmingly approved. Implemented in summer 2007, the new Duke Community Standard differs from its predecessor chiefly in its level of commitment to taking action (see “Students’ Obligation to Act with Respect to the Duke Community Standard” on page 12).

In the spring of 2011, Duke University again surveyed undergraduate students about integrity, this time expanding beyond an academic focus to additional questions about integrity in other domains (i.e., social, work, and civic) inside and outside the classroom. In-depth focus interviews were also conducted with a sample of graduating seniors. Results showed a marked reduction in academic dishonesty in three key areas that were identified in the 2011 academic dishonesty survey showed a marked reduction in academic dishonesty in three key areas that were identified as problem areas in the 2005 survey: fabricating or falsifying a bibliography, falsifying or fabricating lab data, and copying or paraphrasing a few sentences without appropriate attribution.
as problem areas in the 2005 survey: fabricating or falsifying a bibliography, falsifying or fabricating lab data, and copying or paraphrasing a few sentences without appropriate attribution. One area of concern that emerged from the 2011 survey was an increase in reported unauthorized collaboration. There was also a gap between students’ perceptions of the prevalence of dishonesty across these multiple domains and students’ self-reported rates of engaging in dishonest acts within these domains. Duke University will continue efforts to narrow students’ perception of the frequency of academic dishonesty and actual self-reported rates of cheating and other dishonest acts.

A Statement of Principles

The Duke Community Standard expresses a standard for behavior—a set of expectations of students who claim membership in Duke’s learning community. All incoming undergraduates, upon admittance to Duke, are required to sign a pledge to adhere to these values and to conduct themselves in accordance with these values throughout their undergraduate careers. Likewise, upon completion of each academic assignment, students may be asked to reaffirm their commitment to the Duke Community Standard by signing a statement indicating that they have adhered to the Duke Community Standard in completing the assignment.

The Duke Community Standard, thus, is a statement of principles. The specific policies, or rules and regulations of the university, define the conduct for which students can be held accountable.
Duke University has high expectations for students’ scholarship and conduct. In accepting admission, students indicate their willingness to subscribe to and be governed by the rules and regulations of the university, which flow from the Duke Community Standard. These policies reflect the Duke Community Standard’s fundamental values—honesty, fairness, respect, and accountability.

Undergraduates acknowledge the right of the university to take disciplinary action, including suspension or expulsion, for failure to abide by the regulations or for other conduct adjudged unsatisfactory or detrimental to the university community.

Students and groups may be held accountable for any violation of university policy that may or may not be included in this guide, whether on or off campus. In addition to local ordinances and state and federal laws, the following policies govern the undergraduate community.

Academic Dishonesty

Lying

Lying is communicating untruths or misrepresentations in order to gain an unfair academic or employment advantage. [Wording adopted from the Duke Fuqua School of Business code.]

It includes, but is not limited to:
- falsifying information on a résumé;
- misrepresenting one’s own research;
- providing false or misleading information in order to be excused from classes or assignments; or
- intentionally underperforming on a placement exam.

Cheating

Cheating is the act of wrongfully using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, study aids, or the ideas or work of another in order to gain an unfair advantage. It includes, but is not limited to:
- plagiarism on any assignment;
- giving unauthorized aid to another student or receiving unauthorized aid from another person on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations;
- using or consulting unauthorized materials or using unauthorized equipment or devices on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations;
- altering or falsifying any information on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations;

Undergraduate Policies
It is quite easy for faculty and instructors to detect plagiarism in computer programming assignments. Instructors may use a variety of software tools to compare submitted solutions with those from other students and those available on the Internet. These tools, which recognize most common programming languages, are not easily fooled by efforts to hide plagiarism since they use the structure of the program rather than verbatim matching to assess similarity.

- Dr. Ron Parr, Professor and Chair, Department of Computer Science

• using any material portion of a paper or project to fulfill the requirements of more than one course unless the student has received prior faculty permission to do so;
• working on any examination, test, quiz or assignment outside of the time constraints imposed;
• the unauthorized use of prescription medication to enhance academic performance;
• submitting an altered examination or assignment to an instructor for re-grading; or
• failing to adhere to an instructor’s specific directions with respect to the terms of academic integrity or academic honesty.

“Plagiarism” occurs when a student, with intent to deceive or with reckless disregard for proper scholarly procedures, presents any information, ideas, or phrasing of another as if they were his/her own and/or does not give appropriate credit to the original source. Proper scholarly procedures require that all quoted material be identified by quotation marks or indentation on the page, and the source of information and ideas, if from another, must be identified and be attributed to that source. Students are responsible for learning proper scholarly procedures.

The term “assignment” includes any work, required or volunteered, submitted for review, academic credit, and/or disciplinary sanction.

All academic work undertaken by a student must be completed independently unless the faculty member or other responsible authority expressly authorizes collaboration with another.

Stealing

Stealing is the act of intentionally taking or appropriating the property of another, including academic work, without consent or permission and with the intent to keep or use the property without the permission of the owner or the rightful possessor.

Academic Freedom

Freedom of inquiry and the free exchange of ideas are essential for the fulfilment of the university’s mission. Academic freedom is a right and responsibility of students as well as faculty. Students who believe that their academic freedom has been abridged should submit a written complaint to their academic dean. The dean may enlist the faculty in establishing the merits or extent of the complaint by appointing a disinterested two-person subcommittee of the Faculty Hearing Committee to provide advice. Cases not resolved by the dean may be brought to the attention of the provost. Students may also seek advice of the student ombudsperson in resolving a complaint.

Banners

Banners on the exterior or interior of the West Union Building, East Union Building, Bryan Student Center, and Bryan Center Plaza are approved and installed by University Center Activities and Events. Housing, Dining, and Residence Life approves banners on the exterior/interior of residence halls (contact the appropriate Residence Coordinator). Banners attached to residential buildings are limited to five feet by five feet in dimension (or smaller) and may not cover the windows of a room in a manner that impedes egress. Banners may not have objects hanging from them (normally used to weigh banner down). Only banners or flags can be hung outside of windows. Requests for hanging banners on all other university buildings and light poles must be approved by Facilities Management located at Smith Warehouse, Bay 1 (919-684-2122). Introduction: Our Ideas Emerge Against the Backdrop of Previous Formulations

Rarely, if ever, do we develop ideas in our individual minds, free of the effects and influences of others’ previous findings, claims, and analyses. This is not to suggest that writers never forge new ideas; rather, the majority of one’s thoughts—and certainly the intellectual thinking that we do in university settings—is prompted, shaped, and changed in response to and in light of what has already been stated by others. Our ideas emerge in response to reading others’ texts, in sites of conversation and verbal exchange, with and against the grain of the words and formulations of others.

It is appropriate to think of the university as a vast society of influences, composed of various formal sites of critical discussion, reporting, and debate, both verbal and written. University persons—both scholars and students—gain status and authority by dint of their intellectual involvement in written and verbal exchange (detailing their findings, casting written arguments, offering careful analyses of their objects of study). Since the university values the public thinking of its faculty and students, it requires that its members formally recognize who has made which sorts of statements in what settings. Scrupulously citing the origin of quotations, summaries, and other borrowed material included in your paper enables the social value of respect to exist within intellectual circles of research and scholarship around the globe. Not to formally recognize the work and influences of others in your writing is to plagiarize, violating an ethic of mutual regard.

The Academic Community’s Guidelines: The Practice of Documentation

It has become commonplace to envision the verbal and written exchanges between speakers and listeners, readers and writers, researchers and their sources, as interactions constituting communities of discourse. Discourse communities share interpretive, analytic, and argumentative conventions. Academic discourse communities (often shaped as “disciplines” or “fields of inquiry”) agree to refer scrupulously to one another’s writings and research findings by explicitly linking quoted materials to the name of the person or persons who uttered or wrote them, and by carefully describing the influence others have had upon them.

In fact, a mark of strong academic writing is the practice of situating one’s claims and findings within a tradition of inquiry into the subject, detailing the nature of the exchanges that have preceded the present foray into the ongoing conversation, at times indicating one’s affinities or disagreement with one or another avenue of thought. Ethos and authority are enhanced when writers demonstrate their uses of others’ statements, texts, and representations, and when they appropriately identify these sources in their arguments and analyses. This practice is called documentation. Guidelines for how to correctly cite materials used within your writing and rules for assembling the list of works that you cite in your paper are compiled by academic organizations which produce style manuals. Information from these style manuals can be accessed in the Citing Sources section of the Library web page.

Plagiarism Defined

Academic communities, then, demand that writers credit others for their work, and that the source of their material clearly be acknowledged. Not to do so is to plagiarize, to intentionally or unintentionally appropriate the ideas, language, key terms, or findings of another without sufficient acknowledgment that such material is not one’s own. As the Modern Language Association defines this transgression:

Scholarly authors generously acknowledge their debts to predecessors by carefully giving credit to each source. Whenever you draw on another’s work, you must specify what you borrowed whether facts, opinions, or quotations and where you borrowed it from. Using another person’s ideas or expressions in your writing without acknowledging the source constitutes plagiarism. Derived from the Latin plagiarius (“kidnapper”), plagiarism refers to a form of intellectual theft. . . . In short, to plagiarize is to give the impression that you wrote or thought something that you in fact borrowed from someone, and to do so is a violation of professional ethics. (Joseph Gibaldi, MLA Style Manual and Guide to Scholarly Publishing. 2nd. ed., New York: MLA, 1998: 151).
Plagiarism encompasses a range of errors and violations. Though the charge of plagiarism can be leveled against writers who incorrectly or neglect to cite borrowed materials, it most often tempts students who find themselves in the dire straits of having to complete a written assignment without previously having undertaken the laborious and time-consuming process of research, reading, note-taking, interpretation, and analysis. Wholesale copying from sources is an easy way to fill up the page and to turn something—anything—in on time. In all cases, it is far better to contact one’s instructor and honestly to discuss with him or her a strategy for completing an assignment rather than to risk humiliation and disciplinary consequences. Instructors will, within reason and to the best of their abilities, help you to get your papers started and help you to make progress with your work. You will do yourself and your instructors justice if you openly and squarely discuss the circumstances of your progress or lack thereof.

On occasion, students accused of plagiarism have claimed that their plagiarism has occurred without their knowledge or intent. Since ignorance of convention is not a reasonable defense, it is best to become thoroughly acquainted both with the various ways in which plagiarism is construed, and with the conventions of source attribution and proper documentation. Some students seem to believe that there are different degrees of plagiarism, some not as a bad as others. No distinctions are made between any of the following acts. All constitute instances of plagiarism as outlined in The Duke Community Standard in Practice: A Guide for Undergraduates, and all constitute transgression of the university’s Community Standard. You will be charged with plagiarism if you:

- Copy from published sources without adequate documentation.
- Purchase a pre-written paper (either by mail or electronically).
- Let someone else write a paper for you.
- Pay someone else to write a paper for you.
- Submit as your own someone else’s unpublished work, either with or without permission.

If the final work you submit is not yours, it does not matter how you came by it. If you use another person’s work to further your own understanding of a subject, you must credit the source. specific guidelines. All exterior banners (including flags) in residential areas must be removed by the last day of classes each semester.

Chalking

Chalking is prohibited on any surface, including, but not limited to, sidewalks, archways, and benches.

Posters, Announcements, and Bulletin Boards

The following is a checklist of procedures with reference to the posting of notices on university bulletin boards, building doors, containers, light posts, trees, and sidewalks:

- Posters/flyers must provide information regarding student activities, give information of an academic nature, make announcements pertinent to the business of the university, or supply information to members of the Duke community regarding available campus services or products.
- Posters/flyers must state the name of the sponsoring organization, business, department, or person responsible.
- As appropriate for the surface, staples, thumbtacks, magnets, masking tape, or transparent tape may be used to attach posters/flyers to approved bulletin boards or posting areas. The use of glue, nails, and duct tape or any other heavy-duty tape is prohibited.
- Posters/flyers must never be attached to doors, windows, trashcans, entryways, exteriors of buildings, interior walls, stairway railings, floors, benches or ceilings, nor may they be placed on the windshields of parked automobiles or on sidewalks.
- Posters/flyers may NOT be attached or affixed to any tree or utility pole.
- Posters/flyers (and the fasteners used to attach them) must be removed within three days after the advertised event.
- All posters/flyers may be periodically removed from bulletin boards as part of routine maintenance.

Alcohol

University-Wide Policy

As a community of scholars and learners, Duke University expects those within its community to be responsible with the use of alcohol. This policy shall guide the role of alcohol everywhere on the Duke campus and at all events sponsored by Duke organizations, schools, or administrative units. Students, staff, and faculty members are encouraged to learn about the social, physiological, and psychological consequences of drinking and alcohol abuse. Excessive and high-risk drinking can lead to negative consequences for the Duke community, including assault, illness, injury, litter, noise, property damage, and driving under the influence. All members of the Duke community share responsibility for creating an environment that limits dangerous drinking behaviors and, therefore, reduces the likelihood of these negative outcomes.

The following shall guide the role of alcohol in the Duke community:

- All possession, consumption, and distribution of alcohol at Duke University shall be in accordance with applicable North Carolina state laws.
- Members of the Duke community are responsible for behaving in a manner that is not disruptive or endangering to themselves or others. Being under the influence of alcohol shall not be a mitigating factor for an individual’s behavior.
• When persons under 21 years of age can reasonably be expected to be present at an event, proper precautions must be taken to restrict distribution and consumption of alcohol to persons of legal drinking age. Student organizations shall also adhere to the specific guidelines for events outlined in The Duke Community Standard in Practice: A Guide for Undergraduates (for student organizations that cater primarily to undergraduates) or the Graduate and Professional Student Alcohol Policy (for student organizations that cater primarily to graduate/professional students).

• Advertising or other communication that references the availability of alcohol at a function may neither promote alcohol as the focus of the event nor promote excessive drinking.

• Each community (e.g., Undergraduate, Fuqua, Law) may establish additional guidelines and policies governing the possession, consumption, and distribution of alcohol that reach beyond these minimal expectations. Violations of policies shall be adjudicated using existing procedures within each segment of the university.

Undergraduate Policy

The remainder of this policy, specifically for undergraduates, augments Duke’s university-wide alcohol policy. For individuals as well as groups, whether on campus or off, prohibited behavior includes:

• underage possession/consumption;
• unsafe/irresponsible behavior;
• violation of community expectations;
• general provisions violation; and,
• violation(s) of expectations for group-sponsored social functions.

Sanctions for violations of any of these prohibited behaviors are outlined in this Guide (see “Sanctions” on page 64). Parents of students under the age of 21 may be notified of alcohol-related disciplinary violations when a student’s health or safety has been/is at risk.

See “Appendix F — Information and Resources Concerning Substance Use” on page 93 for health effects associated with alcohol and other drug use, helpful resources for assistance, and legal ramifications of illicit possession, use, or distribution.

Underage Possession/Consumption

Students under 21 years of age are not permitted to purchase, possess, or consume alcoholic beverages. Being under the influence of any amount of alcohol while underage is considered a violation of this provision. Groups are considered in violation of this provision if they facilitate the acquisition of alcohol by anyone under the age of 21.

Unsafe/Irresponsible Behavior

Unsafe or irresponsible behavior is defined as actions that are harmful or potentially harmful to one’s self or others involving the use of alcohol. Such behavior includes, but is not limited to:

• consuming an excessive quantity in a short amount of time, including, but not limited to, shotgunning, shots, and chugging;
• participating in or facilitating drinking games or progressive parties;
• consuming through beer bongs;
• use or attempted use of fraudulent identification or another’s identification to obtain alcohol; and
• making alcohol available to underage drinkers.
Community Expectations Violation

It shall be a violation of the alcohol policy to engage in an action while under the influence of alcohol that is disruptive to the community. Such behavior includes, but is not limited to:

- driving;
- exhibiting disorderly conduct, damaging property, and/or fighting;
- littering;
- running away or hiding from university or public officials, including law enforcement;
- vomiting and/or urinating in public; and
- cursing and/or shouting at others.

Promotion of Events with Alcohol

By choosing to serve beverages containing alcohol as part of a social function, you and your group or organization assume responsibilities beyond direct university regulation.

Test cases involving common law precedents and the dispensation of alcoholic beverages are changing the definition of who is liable for a drinker’s actions to include the general category of “social hosts.” A social host may be a fraternity, a residence hall organization, a private citizen, or any combination of the preceding. For example, serving alcohol to a minor who subsequently breaks his leg could render an individual or group liable for the minor’s medical bills. Serving an individual who is “already” or “obviously” drunk and who subsequently has an automobile accident could render an individual or group liable for the injury or death of third party victims of the accident, or any property damage resulting from the accidents.

In general, creating or promoting any set of circumstances that encourages your guests to consume alcohol, especially to the point of intoxication, can have far-reaching negative consequences.

Legal proof of negligence in the dispensation of alcohol usually involves the consideration of wide variety of factors, including the manner in which hosts promote social functions where alcohol is served.

In addition to the responsible monitoring of the social event itself, it is imperative that you and your group or organization do not promote your event in such a manner that a potential guest might reasonably believe your social event is an invitation to become intoxicated. Specifically, flyers, banners, signs, and social media that advertise social events where alcohol will be served must not overtly or covertly state or imply an invitation to participate in excessive drinking. Publicity on East Campus or targeted to first-year students may NOT include a reference to alcohol.

General Provisions Violation

Duke University has established the following general provisions regarding alcohol on campus:

- No kegs or other common-source containers are permitted on campus in private rooms, student apartments, commons rooms, or other public space. (University-approved bartenders, who will be responsible for carding, may distribute alcohol from kegs in public space at events.) Common-source containers, include, but are not limited to, trashcans, recycling bins, kiddie pools, cases of beer, and coolers.
- Only university-approved bartenders are permitted to distribute alcohol on campus, including alcohol from common-source containers.
- Except at events in a licensed facility providing a cash bar, no spirituous liquor or fortified wines may be served to undergraduates.
• All students on university property consuming or possessing alcohol must carry a valid driver’s license, state identification card, military identification card, or passport.

• Alcohol may not be brought in glass containers to on-campus Bring Your Own Beverage (“BYOB”) events.

• No individual may possess more than six cans at a BYOB event. Each can may not exceed 12 ounces.

• Containers holding more than 24 ounces are prohibited from BYOB events.

• No alcoholic beverages are permitted in first-year houses (or the surrounding grounds) on East Campus.

• No alcoholic beverages are permitted within the confines of campus athletic facilities during sporting events.

• The use of alcoholic beverages as a prize is prohibited.

Expectations for Group-Sponsored Social Functions

Recognized groups may be held accountable for violations of the alcohol policy that occur during a group-sponsored event on campus. To ensure that such violations do not occur, a group will be held accountable if the group failed to take appropriate precautions. Appropriate precautions must include:

• a trained, sober party monitor for every 25 persons expected to attend the event;

• adequate and accessible non-alcoholic beverages and food;

• compliance with all fire safety regulations;

• adequate control of access to event;

• enforcing occupancy limits for the venue, including commons rooms, hallways, and stairwells;

• calling for medical/police assistance as needed; and

• serving of alcohol by university-approved bartenders only.

Expectations for and obligations of student party monitors are communicated online through the Duke Student Wellness Center. Duties of party monitors include, but are not limited to, prevention of alcohol policy violations, intervention and care of inebriated, at-risk individuals, elimination of safety hazards, and attention to group precautions. Checking identification will be the responsibility of university-approved bartenders. Groups may be held accountable for the actions of individual party monitors.

Party monitors and university officials may deny access to events to anyone who is visibly intoxicated and/or disruptive.

Social events that fail to meet any of these expectations may be shut down immediately.

Animals on Campus

Any animal brought on campus by students or guests may not be unrestrained. With the exception of medically required dogs, animals are prohibited inside university facilities. Any type of animal abuse is prohibited, including but not limited to abandonment of or failure to properly care for an animal. Animals, live or dead, may not be used in pranks or otherwise for amusement or ceremony in connection with any institutional or student group function or activity. For purposes of this policy, the term “animal” includes any wild or domesticated, warm-blooded or cold-blooded animal.
Health and Safety Intervention

Because health and safety of students are of primary importance, students are encouraged not only to look out for their own health and safety but also for that of their peers. When a person's health and/or safety is threatened or appear(s) to be in jeopardy, immediate action should be taken to prevent injury/illness/danger. Dial 911 (or 919-684-2444 if you are on campus) for help. Whatever the particular need/problem, it is important to respond in a responsible and timely manner.

Formal disciplinary action for a violation of the alcohol policy will not be taken against students for whom medical assistance is sought, or against those who seek medical assistance for themselves or for others, provided that the student/group has not violated other university policies that warrant formal disciplinary action.

A student who receives medical assistance may be required to meet with a substance abuse specialist in the Duke Student Wellness Center (DUWELL) for education, assessment, and possible referral for treatment. The student may also be required to complete an educational assignment. Parents of such students under the legal drinking age may also be notified. A group that facilitates the acquisition of alcohol may also be required to notify its advisor, provide an educational program for members, and/or change its processes for hosting events.

In the event that a student fails to meet with the specialist, chooses not to participate in the treatment program outlined, or exhibits a pattern of abusive behavior with alcohol, the student may be subject to formal disciplinary action and/or placed on a Medical Leave of Absence or Involuntary Administrative Withdrawal until he/she produces documentation that appropriate treatment has been successfully sought.

A panel of the Undergraduate Conduct Board will be informed of a student who has received “amnesty” under this provision of the Alcohol Policy should the student be subsequently found responsible for a violation of policy related to substance use for purposes of effective sanctioning.

Animals may not be brought to campus for large-scale student events and activities including, but not limited to, Homecoming, Duke Reunions, Last Day of Classes, Springternational, Joe College Day, Old Duke Concert, etc. For more information, contact University Center Activities and Events at 919-684-4741.

Bridge Painting

The purpose of this policy is to ensure an aesthetically pleasing campus, protect university facilities, and allow for students to use the “Free Expression” bridge/tunnel without damaging neighboring property. Individuals and groups may express opinions within this area that are not restricted by content, except by legal standards.

The surface of the “Free Expression” bridge/tunnel (located on Campus Drive under Main Street) may be painted within the span of the ceiling of the tunnel (but not the ceiling itself), as well as on the outer edge of the Pettigrew Bridge facing Campus Drive and, the exterior (inner) face of the concrete Campus Drive tunnel walls. However, painting is not allowed on the sidewalks or roadways inside or outside the tunnel. Supplies are the responsibility of the painter(s) and are not provided by the university. Painter(s) may not impede the flow of traffic. Any ladders used may not exceed six feet.

There is no restriction regarding painting over the sections of the tunnel that other people or organizations have painted—no matter how recently they have been painted. However, animosity is often generated toward groups who paint over sections that are advertising events not yet held or sections painted very recently. Please use courtesy and common sense when selecting an area of the tunnel to paint.
Any person may remove non-conforming material. Policy violations resulting in the need for restoration should be reported to Duke University Police. Reimbursement for any restoration costs (i.e., paint removal, cleaning, removal of residual substances, and so on) will be the responsibility of the violating party.

No painting will be allowed at any other locations on the campus of Duke University, including these areas near the tunnel:

- the Main Street bridge and the railroad trestle (see below);

- the Duke stone walls (see below);
• the Pettigrew Street Bridge (side of the bridge on Pettigrew Street not overlooking Campus Drive; see below);

!NO PAINTING

• on any light poles, signs or sign posts (see below);

!NO PAINTING

• the steps and handrails from Campus Drive to Pettigrew Street (see below);

!NO PAINTING

• any handrails, roadways or sidewalks, even if located inside the tunnel (see below); or

• fencing along the Main Street bridge.

Although there is no restriction on the content painted on the Free Expression tunnel and the Pettigrew Bridge (except by legal standards), painters should consider the broad effect of what is depicted/written on the walls on the overall campus climate.

Consider these questions as you plan to paint:

Is the content in generally good taste?

Does the content offend or target a specific person or group of people?

Is the content something that could be taken out of context and appear harmful?

Is it something that visitors to Duke can appreciate?
Students who violate these expectations will be held accountable through the university’s disciplinary process and may also be arrested and/or cited for violation of NC law. Note that defacement of any public property (i.e., property not owned by Duke) is a violation of North Carolina law.

Classroom Disruption

Students who behave in the classroom in such a way that the educational experiences of other students and/or the instructor’s course objectives are disrupted are subject to disciplinary action, including possible exclusion from a course. Such behavior impedes students’ ability to learn or an instructor’s ability to teach. Disruptive behavior may include, but is not limited to: non-approved use of electronic devices (including cellular telephones); cursing or shouting at others in such a way as to be disruptive; or, other violations of an instructor’s expectations for classroom conduct.

Computing and Electronic Communications

Security and Privacy

The purpose of this policy is to establish and promote the ethical, legal, and secure use of computing and electronic communications for all members of the university community.

The university cherishes freedom of expression, the diversity of values and perspectives inherent in an academic institution, the right to acknowledgment, and the value of privacy for all members of the Duke community. At the same time, the university may find it necessary to access and disclose information from computer and network users’ accounts to the extent required by law, to uphold contractual obligations or other applicable university policies, or to diagnose and correct technical problems. For this reason, the ultimate privacy of messages and files cannot be ensured. In addition, system failures may lead to loss of data, so users should not assume that their messages and files are secure.

Neither the university nor its agents restrict the content of material transported across its networks. While the university does not position itself as a censor, it reserves the right to limit access to its networks or to remove material stored or posted on university computers when applicable university policies, contractual obligations, or state or federal laws are violated. Alleged violations will receive the same academic due process as any other alleged violation of university policy, contractual obligations, or state or federal laws.

Acceptable Use

In making acceptable use of resources you must:

- Use resources only for authorized purposes.
- Protect your userid and system from unauthorized use. You are responsible for all activities on your userid or that originate from your system. Your userid and password act together as your electronic signature.
- Access only information that is your own, that is publicly available, or to which you have been given authorized access.
- Use only legal versions of copyrighted software in compliance with vendor license requirements.
- Be considerable in your use of shared resources. Refrain from monopolizing systems, overloading networks with excessive data, degrading services, or wasting computer time, connection time, disk space, printer paper, manuals, or other resources.
- Seek pre-approval from OIT before deploying/using code that potentially impacts server resources or automates processes (e.g., in registering for classes).
In making acceptable use of resources you must not:

- Use another person’s system, files, or data without permission (note that permission from an individual user may not be sufficient—some systems may require additional authority).

- Give your password to another person (including to your parents). Contact the OIT Help Desk if you need assistance with giving other people authority to access your files or e-mail.

- Use computer programs to decode passwords or access-control information.

- Attempt to circumvent or subvert system or network security measures.

- Engage in any activity that might be purposefully harmful to systems or to any information stored thereon, such as creating or propagating viruses, worms, or “Trojan horse” programs; disrupting services; damaging files; or making unauthorized modifications to university data.

- Make or use illegal copies of copyrighted software or other copyrighted works, store such copies on university systems, or transmit them over university networks.

- Use mail or messaging services to harass or intimidate another person, for example, by broadcasting unsolicited messages, by repeatedly sending unwanted mail, or by using someone else’s name or userid.

- Waste shared computing or network resources, for example, by intentionally placing a program in an endless loop, printing excessive amounts of paper, or by sending chain letters or unsolicited mass mailings.

- Use the university’s systems or networks for commercial purposes; for example, by selling access to your userid or by performing work for profit with university resources in a manner not authorized by the university.

The above list only addresses some of the most common issues that arise with regard to computing. All prohibitions found in applicable law and other university policies also apply to the computer systems.

Group E-mail

Large-scale e-mail communications within groups or units, including surveys, announcements, etc., require the implicit or explicit prior approval of that group or unit. In the case of such communications from outside the unit, the approval must always be explicit. Visit the OIT web site for full information at oit.duke.edu/email-accounts/group_email/group_email_policy.php.

Note that the above computing policies are subject to change. For current policies, visit oit.duke.edu.

Disorderly Conduct

Disorderly conduct is contrary to the mission of the university and will be addressed through the disciplinary process. Disorderly conduct is defined as:

- any unreasonable or reckless conduct by an individual or group that is inherently or potentially unsafe to other persons or their real or personal property; and/or

- any behavior by an individual or group that disrupts the peace or interferes with the normal operation of the university or university-sponsored activities.

Disorderly conduct includes, but is not limited to: reckless driving; interrupting or interfering with the carrying out of the duties of a university or public official, including law enforcement; vomiting and/or urinating in public; and, indecent exposure.
Drugs and Drug Paraphernalia

Duke University prohibits members of its community, both individuals and groups, from manufacturing, selling, delivering, possessing, using, or being under the influence of a controlled substance without legal authorization. A controlled substance includes any drug, substance or immediate precursor covered under the North Carolina Controlled Substances Act, including but not limited to opiates, barbiturates, amphetamines, marijuana, and hallucinogens.

The possession of drug paraphernalia is also prohibited under North Carolina state law and university policy. Drug paraphernalia includes all equipment, products and material of any kind that are used to facilitate, or intended or designed to facilitate, violations of the North Carolina Controlled Substances Act.

In addition to disciplinary action, the conduct officer, or designee, may require a student to take a leave of absence, and return to campus may be conditional upon proof of completion of a substance abuse treatment program.

DukeCard

As stated on the back of the DukeCard, the card “should be carried at all times and presented upon request to any university official. [It] is not transferable. The transfer of an ID card to another person, or the possession of another person’s ID card, may result in confiscation of the card and [disciplinary] action.”

Failure to Comply

A student or group may be held accountable for failure to comply with:

• directions, requests, or orders of any university representative or body acting in an official capacity, or impeding with the carrying out of such directives;
• instructions of law enforcement officials acting in an official capacity;
• specified protocols and policies for protected research data; and/or
• sanctions rendered during the disciplinary process (including sanctions issued by a residential staff member).

Falsification/Fraud

Honesty and integrity are critical components of the Duke Community Standard. A student or group may be subject to disciplinary action for any of the following actions:

• any intentional misrepresentation of fact (by action or concealment), including furnishing false information, to any university official;
• any intentional misrepresentation of fact (by action or concealment) to obtain or attempt to induce another to surrender a right, benefit or property; and/or
• forgery, alteration, or misuse of any official document, record, key, access code or instrument of identification, or possession of such forgery.

Fire Safety

It is a violation of university policy to light any material on fire on campus. Candles, other open flame devices, and incense are strictly forbidden for use inside university facilities except during official religious ceremonies such as the observance of Chanukah. Those individuals or groups wishing to utilize candles in observance of a religious holiday would need to follow specific guidelines provided by campus security.
or any other event shall contact OESO-Fire & Life Safety Division to obtain permission and information concerning fire prevention. Students and groups will be held financially accountable for any damage they cause as a result of violating this policy and will be referred to the disciplinary process. Additionally, students may be subject to a revocation of their Housing License for any violation of the Fire Safety policy.

Electrical Wiring/Appliances. Tampering with electrical wiring, including, but not limited to, the installation of direct-wired ceiling fans and unauthorized entry into electrical panel boxes, is prohibited. Residents are responsible for any damages caused by electrical appliances that are not owned by Duke University.

All electrical appliances shall be UL approved and maintained in good condition. Numerous electrical devices plugged into one outlet through an outlet cube or extension cord may cause a circuit overload or may cause overheating of the electrical appliances, resulting in a fire. Therefore, the use of outlet cubes or extension cords is prohibited. Use a power strip with a built-in circuit breaker.

Heat-producing appliances (e.g., hair dryers, coffee pots, irons, etc.) should never be plugged into multi-plug adaptors, extension cords, or power strips, and should never be left unattended.

Fire Alarms/Drills. Never assume that a fire alarm is a drill or false alarm. Remain calm and evacuate the facility. Evacuation is mandatory for all individuals when the fire alarm is sounding. Anyone who fails to evacuate may face disciplinary action. Remember to follow the instructions of the emergency responders. Do not re-enter the facility until authorized. If you have any information regarding the alarm, present that information immediately to the responding emergency personnel.

Fire Extinguishers, Sprinklers, and Other Fire-Fighting/Detecting Equipment. Relocating, removing, tampering with, or destroying smoke detectors or fire-fighting equipment is strictly prohibited. Damage and/or theft of fire equipment also is punishable under North Carolina state law.

Fireworks. Students may not possess/use fireworks of any kind on campus. Anyone who sees a person with these materials should immediately report it to Duke Police.

Flammable/Combustible Materials in the Residential Areas. Flammable/combustible materials, including but not limited to gasoline, lighter fluid, and propane lanterns, are not permitted in residential areas.

Grills. North Carolina state law prohibits the use of portable charcoal, gas, or electric grills within 10 feet of all residence halls/apartments. Storage of grills not in use, which are cool, is permitted on the exterior of the structure or in approved locations. Failure to abide by this ordinance may result in a fine as determined by the Durham Fire Marshal in addition to disciplinary action.

Halogen Lamps. Fire & Life Safety and Housing, Dining, and Residence Life (HDRL) prohibit halogen lamps in residential areas. The very high temperatures reached by their bulbs constitute a fire hazard and a potential source of burns. In addition, the geometry of the floor model lamp tends to make them very unstable and easily tipped over.

Obstruction of Hallways, Stairwells, Sidewalks, and Lawns. North Carolina fire safety codes prohibit the obstruction of hallways and stairwells. The Durham Fire Marshal mandates the immediate removal of all items obstructing hallways and stairwells. HDRL, Facilities Management, Fire & Life Safety, or Duke Police will remove without warning or reimbursement furniture, bicycles, lumber, and all other items found obstructing hallways or stairwells. University furniture will be removed from hallways and stairwells and residents may be charged for missing furniture. Sidewalks, stairways, and entryways must not be used for purposes other than ingress or egress. Bicycles may not be left in these areas or other locations where they may cause harm to persons or groundskeeping equipment.

Duke takes matters of fire safety very seriously. Please contact Duke Police, Fire Safety, residence hall team members, or other university staff if you spot any of the following:

- broken or beeping smoke detectors
- fire extinguishers that have been removed from their posts
- brush or other uncontained fires
- downed electrical wires

DUPD: 919-684-2444
Fire Safety: 919-684-5609
RC on-call: 919-970-4466

Tampering with fire safety equipment often results in revocation of a student’s housing license.
Motorcycles must be parked in parking lots. Delivery trucks, automobiles, motorcycles, scooters, and mini-bikes are not permitted on lawns and walkways, patios, or stairwells. These vehicles must be parked in legal parking spaces.

Open Fires on Campus. Open fires, including bonfires, are not permitted on Duke University property except as approved by the OESO Fire & Life Safety Division and the Durham Fire Marshal. Students who either provide or contribute materials to burn or who ignite or attempt to ignite flammable materials will be considered in violation of this policy. Students also should realize that such actions violate state law and may result in a citation for unlawful burning.

Open Flames. It is a violation of university policy to light any material on fire on campus. Candles, other open flame devices, grills, incense, and any other flame/heat producing items are strictly forbidden for use inside university facilities except during official religious ceremonies, such as the observance of Chanukah. Permission for use of any open flame devices (including those used for religious ceremonies) must be obtained from OESO Fire & Life Safety Division prior to use. A copy of the signed approval letter must be maintained at the location approved for an open flame device.

Students will be held financially accountable for any damage they or the open flame device causes as a result of violating this policy and may be referred for disciplinary action. (See “Appendix H — Theme Parties and Decorations” on page 98.)

Gambling

It is against North Carolina state law and Duke University policy to gamble, with the exception of the state lottery. A person/organization is gambling if he/she/it operates, plays, or bets at any game of chance at which any money, property, or other thing of value is bet. Raffles of any kind, including those sponsored by student groups, are also prohibited. A “raffle” is defined as “a game in which the prize is won by random drawing of the name or number of one or more persons purchasing chances” (N.C.G.S. §14-309.15). Poker nights and casino games are permitted only if no admission is charged, no buy-in is required, and no real money is wagered.

Guests

Students and groups are responsible for notifying their guests of university rules and regulations and may be held accountable for the conduct of their guests. Guests can be Duke University students or non-students. Guests on campus who do not abide by university policies are subject to being trespassed.

Students are responsible for the behavior of visitors to their room/apartment and may be found responsible for behavior that occurs there whether or not the occupant(s) is/are present.

Harassment

Harassment of any individual for any reason is not acceptable at Duke University. Harassment is unwelcome verbal or physical conduct that, because of its severity and/or persistence, interferes significantly with an individual’s work or education, or adversely affects an individual’s living conditions. (See the “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39 for the definition of and procedures related to sex/gender-based harassment by an undergraduate or graduate student.) The Office for Institutional Equity responds to allegations of harassment in which an accused is not an undergraduate student; see web.duke.edu/equity/harassment.html for the university’s full Harassment Policy.
Hazing

Hazing is a serious infraction of university regulations. The potential for hazing typically arises as part of a student’s introduction to or initiation in an organization (fraternity, sorority, athletic team, or other group) in which there is often a perceived or real power differential between members of the organization and those newly joining it.

Hazing defined. Hazing is defined as any action taken or situation created, whether on or off university premises, that is harmful or potentially harmful to an individual’s physical, emotional, or psychological well-being, regardless of an individual’s willingness to participate or its bearing on his/her membership status. Such activities and situations include, but are not limited to:

Level I Violations

- marching in line
- road trips
- wearing apparel which is conspicuous and not normally in good taste, and/or inappropriate for the time of year
- calisthenics
- line-ups
- pledge/signature books
- periods of silence
- standing for a length of time
- personal servitude
- activities that would not normally construe hazing but because of time, place, or manner make them inappropriate

Level II Violations

- sleep deprivation or interruption of consecutive sleep hours
- expected or forced consumption of food, drink (including alcohol), or other substance
- acts of humiliation or degradation (including streaking or wearing degrading or humiliating apparel)
- restrictions on eating or bathing
- acts that disrupt academic instruction or learning of others
- interruption or interference of academic commitments

Level III Violations

- branding
- paddling in any form
- compromising (sexual) situations

Any individual or group found responsible for hazing will be subject to sanctions outlined in the disciplinary process, including, but not limited to: disciplinary probation, social suspension, suspension of charter, restrictions on member recruitment and/or group activity, removal of the individual from the group, loss of housing privileges, suspension, and/or expulsion. Sanctioning will increase with the level of violation and any previous

Both individuals and groups may be held accountable under the Hazing Policy. The action of even one member of a group may result in both individual and group responsibility. The following questions can help individuals/groups assess the appropriateness of an activity:

Does the activity promote and conform to the ideals, values, and mission of both the university and organization?

Is it an activity that all members (current and initiates) engage in together?

Would the group’s advisor, the national headquarters of a fraternity/sorority, and/or other university officials approve of the activity?

Will this activity increase new members’ respect for the group and all members of the group?

Is the activity free of mental anguish or physical discomfort?

Does the activity have inherent value in and of itself?

What is hazing? What is not hazing?

Road Trips

Zeta Gamma fraternity plans a group outing to enhance the sense of brotherhood among its associates and new members during the pledging period. The new member educator uses the group listserv to announce a weekend camping trip three weeks in advance. In the email, all members are notified that the group will spend two nights sleeping in tents at Jordan Lake, and the email includes details such as departure/return times and a list of planned activities. The email asks the members to respond with their availability and invites them to pitch in $10 for food and non-alcoholic beverages. The email makes explicit that no alcohol will be served on this trip, and that all members are encouraged to attend but that attendance is not required.

This is NOT a violation of the Hazing Policy. All members of the Zeta Gamma fraternity are invited to participate in the camping trip and contribute an equal amount of money. The trip includes a specific agenda and sets detailed expectations for a member’s time commitment.

The recruitment chair of the Lambda Pi Psi fraternity planned a surprise getaway for its new members. A few associates were asked to help plan the event, and the recruitment chair secured the DukeCard of a first-year student in order to enter the East Campus residence halls. At 3 o’clock on a Saturday morning, current members stormed into the new members’ rooms and yelled at them, stating they had 15 minutes to get dressed and meet at the East Campus Bus Stop, but that this was an optional activity. They were not given any further instructions. New members put their clothes on and ran to the bus stop, where cars were waiting for them. After they got into the cars, the new members were blindfolded and were driven approximately 20 minutes to an undisclosed location. They were made to get out of the car and hand in their cell phones and wallets to an associate. The new member educator then told the new members that they needed to make their way back to campus by 10 o’clock in the morning for mandatory physical training.

This IS a violation of the Hazing Policy. Regardless of the new members’ willingness to participate, the activity was harmful to their physical and emotional well-being. The new members engaged in this activity under the watch of associates. In addition to Hazing, the group may be charged with potential policy violations of Noise, Disorderly Conduct, and Property/Facilities/Services – Unauthorized Access. Lambda Pi Psi’s president, new member educator, and current members who participated in the activity by driving or waking up the new members may also be held individually accountable for policy violations.

Scavenger Hunts

The business fraternity Epsilon Delta Omega has developed a scavenger hunt to help create a sense of belonging and brotherhood. Teams consisting of both new and associate members are given a list of tasks to be completed on the Duke campus that engage them in learning more about the university and each other. Such tasks include visiting the Duke Chapel crypt and getting the names of the former Duke presidents who are buried there, finding out who the “Griffith” is in the name “Griffith Board Room” and what his role was at Duke, and meeting one of the Directors of Academic Engagement, Global, and Civic Opportunities at the Academic Advising Center. A specific time limit is set for the scavenger hunt during the day, and the members of the team who have completed the most tasks each win a gift certificate to The Parlour in Durham.

This is NOT a violation of the Hazing Policy. There is no penalty for not completing tasks. Members are not required to complete ridiculous or dangerous tasks. Current members are asked to participate equally in the activity.

A highly regarded a cappella group has auditioned a large number of students and is ready to accept a few new members, but wants to make sure they are committed to the long practice hours and tight-knit friendship. They distribute a list of required tasks the new members must complete between the hours of 10 PM and 8 AM the following morning. The new members are split into teams based on which students have access to cars, and the returning members gather at a member’s off-campus house to watch a basketball game. The task sheet, which includes activities like stealing a parking gate arm, taking a selfie while riding the mechanical bull at a local bar, and bringing a pizza to the house, also notes that for each task the team does not complete, a team member will have to run a circuit around the East Campus loop.
This IS a violation of the Hazing Policy. The new members are subjected to absurd requirements that offer no substantial, meaningful engagement with either the group members or the university. New members are put under additional pressure with physical penalties, and the current members are not participating equally in the event. Further, the new members are required to violate university policy by taking a parking gate arm, which may result in additional disciplinary charges for the group.

Costumes/Apparel

The Marketing Club is considering creative ways to market its annual Library Party to the Duke community. One member suggests that during the week before the party, members dress up during the day in costumes that lend themselves to this year’s theme, “Heroes and Villains.” The group asks for volunteers from the planning committee to participate, and gives them flyers to pass out on the Bryan Center Plaza and around campus to passersby. Throughout the week before the party, Superman, Darth Vader, Black Widow, and Buffy the Vampire Slayer are spotted on campus talking to people about the party.

This is NOT a violation of the Hazing Policy. Students are invited to volunteer to dress up to promote the party, and wearing a costume is not a condition of membership or joining the group.

The women’s gymnastics team is trying to gather interest from the Duke community in attending its only home meet of the season. Each year, the freshman members of the team are required to don silly costumes such as a cow with udders, a monkey suit, and a cowgirl. The older members of the team instruct the freshmen to ride the East-West campus bus for hour-long shifts wearing their costumes and handing out flyers for the meet.

This IS a violation of the Hazing Policy. First-year team members are singled out and are made to promote the meet without the older members of the team. Even if upperclassmen had to do the same activity when they were freshmen (which still is considered a violation of the Hazing Policy), new members may not be required to do so.

Making an activity optional does not change the fact that it may be construed as hazing. The culture of joining new groups creates a tacit understanding that those who want to join will participate in any way possible to gain acceptance. Consent to being a participant in or perpetrator of hazing is not justification for violating this policy.

Other examples of hazing:

- Physical training, calisthenics, exercise (Level I): New members may neither be asked nor required to participate in any physical activity except in the context of club sports, intramurals, etc.
- Being required to have on one’s person specific objects, food, or beverages (Level I)
- Texting or calling new members at various times of day and night in order to run errands (Level I)
- Requiring new members to clean up following group parties (unless all members of the group are asked to participate) (Level I)
- Mandatory study hours at unusual times or that interrupt a student’s academic schedule (Level II)
- “Kidnapping” new members at any time of the day (Level I or II)
- Torturing animals (Level II or III)
- Requiring new members to serve as designated drivers (Level I or II)

Common activities that are not construed as hazing:

- Requesting that new members wear more formal attire, such as blazers and ties, on a certain day of the week (apparel that is not conspicuous or inappropriate)
- Requesting that new members wear a specific color to an event for members of the group (apparel that is not conspicuous or inappropriate)
- Tenting in Krzyzewskiville. Students who sign up to participate in tenting are given explicit instructions and expectations for attendance before getting involved. Tent checks and sleeping in cold weather are not construed as hazing; those who choose to tent are not seeking membership or initiation into an organization
Students may be held accountable by the university for their behavior off campus, from Durham to Dubai.

Undergraduates are commonly issued citations by local law enforcement for such behavior as possessing a container of alcohol while under the age of 21 and playing loud music and/or having loud guests after 11:00 p.m. (the time at which the Durham Noise Ordinance goes into effect each night).

Students who live off campus are encouraged to meet their Durham neighbors and be considerate of them. All undergraduates should become familiar with local ordinances and laws before leaving the Duke campus.

hazing violations. (Levels of violation listed above are guidelines only and may change given particular circumstances of a violation.) Students should also be aware that hazing is a misdemeanor under North Carolina state law.

Acts or potential acts of hazing may be reported to the Office of Student Conduct (919-684-6938) or Duke Police (911 or 919-684-2444). In addition, concerns may be reported confidentially via voicemail to the university’s Hazing Hotline at 919-684-5766. Maintaining the confidentiality of the source is possible, but may limit the extent of action that can be taken.

Noise

Students and groups are expected to respect the rights of others at all times. During specified hours, higher noise levels are permitted but must remain at a level considerate of those students who wish to study or sleep:

East, Central, West Campuses:

Quiet hours are in effect at all times other than as noted below, when reasonable levels of noise will be permitted:

- 5:00 p.m.-7:00 p.m. Monday-Thursday
- 5:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m. Friday
- 1:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m. Saturday
- 1:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m. Sunday

West Campus:

Amplified sound is permitted on the Plaza between noon and 1 p.m. on weekdays.

East Campus:

The Substance-Free Community maintains special quiet hours from midnight until 7:00 a.m. each day.

All Campuses:

From reading day(s) through the end of finals, quiet hours are in effect 24 hours a day.

Students who are disturbed by noise should attempt to resolve the situation by contacting the other party(ies) involved; or, if needed, seek the assistance of living group officers, resident assistants, graduate residents, or residence coordinators. If necessary, persistent complaints may be registered by calling Duke Police at 919-684-2444. Students are responsible for the actions of their guests; cohesive units, as a whole, may be held responsible for violations of this policy by their individual members or their guests. Initial complaints will be referred to appropriate residential staff. Depending on the nature and severity of the violation, as well as the existence of prior violations, the complaint may be forwarded to the Office of Student Conduct for disciplinary action.

Physical Abuse, Fighting, and Endangerment

Any physical abuse, fighting, and/or endangerment to an individual or group is specifically prohibited. This behavior includes, but is not limited to:

- physical violence (initiating or responding to) or attempted physical violence against a person or group. This includes fighting.
- threat of physical violence against a person or group.
• any action that endangers the health, safety or welfare of a person or group.

Pickets, Protests, and Demonstrations

Statement of Policy. Duke University respects the right of all members of the academic community to explore and to discuss questions which interest them, to express opinions publicly and privately, and to join together to demonstrate their concern by orderly means. It is the policy of the university to protect the right of voluntary assembly, to make its facilities available for peaceful assembly, to welcome guest speakers, to protect the exercise of these rights from disruption or interference.

The university also respects the right of each member of the academic community to be free from coercion and harassment. It recognizes that academic freedom is no less dependent on ordered liberty than any other freedom, and it understands that the harassment of others is especially reprehensible in a community of scholars. The substitution of noise for speech and force for reason is a rejection and not an application of academic freedom. A determination to discourage conduct which is disruptive and disorderly does not threaten academic freedom; it is rather, a necessary condition of its very existence. Therefore, Duke University will not allow disruptive or disorderly conduct on its premises to interrupt its proper operation. Persons engaging in disruptive action or disorderly conduct shall be subject to disciplinary action, including expulsion or separation, and also charges of violations of law.

Students planning a picket, protest, or demonstration should contact University Center Activities and Events (919-684-4741) for guidance and further information.

Rule. Disruptive picketing, protesting, or demonstrating on Duke University property or at any place in use for an authorized university purpose is prohibited.
While Duke University recognizes the right to voluntary assembly, members of the university community must recognize that the Medical Center provides care for individuals needing uninterrupted medical services in tranquil surroundings. Accordingly, all pickets, demonstrations, mass assemblies, and protests shall be confined to campus areas and are strictly prohibited in or around any Medical Center building.

Hearing and Appeal. Cases arising out of violations of the Pickets and Protests Regulations will be heard by the University Judicial Board, in accordance with the procedures outlined herein. The University Judicial Board shall have jurisdiction over members of the student body, members of the faculty, and administrative personnel of the university not subject to the personnel policy handbook. Hearings will be conducted with regard for academic due process. The decision of the University Judicial Board shall be final if the accused is exonerated or if there is no appeal. In other cases, students may appeal to the president, or, in his/her absence, the provost, in which case such appeal shall be solely on the record of the proceedings before the Hearing Committee of the University Judicial Board. Argument on appeal shall be on written submission, but the president may, in addition, require oral argument.

A Hearing Committee will consist of two faculty members, one dean, and two students. These students will be selected from members of the judicial boards or governments in the undergraduate, graduate, or professional colleges or schools. The chair of the Hearing Committee will be designated by its members. The Hearing Committee will conduct its proceedings in accordance with academic due process.

Amendments. These regulations on pickets, protests, and demonstrations may be changed or amended by the university at any time but any such change or amendment shall be effective only after publication or other notice. These regulations supersede any regulations heretofore issued on the subject.

Property/Facilities/Services

Students and groups are expected to respect the property of others (including that of the university) and may be subject to disciplinary action for the following:

- theft of the property and/or services of another;
- damage, destruction, or defacement of the property of another, including littering or chalking of university property;
- wrongful appropriation of the property and/or services of another;
- unauthorized possession and/or use of the property of another, including knowingly being in possession of stolen goods (this includes unauthorized use of vehicles, equipment, services, the Duke University name and logo);
- unauthorized access, entry, and/or use of university or non-university facilities or property, including but not limited to buildings, classrooms, residential rooms, athletic areas, Central Campus pool, parking areas, roofs, ledges, and tunnels; and/or
- violation of any policy or guidelines pertaining to specific usage of a university facility.

Sexual Misconduct

See “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39.

Smoking

Duke University seeks to preserve a living and working environment supportive of behaviors that contribute to the physical health and well-being of all community members. Smoking any substance is not permitted in any university building, including residence halls and apartments. Examples of prohibited smoking devices include, but are not limited to, cigarettes, e-cigarettes, and vaporizers.

Smoking is neither permitted within 10 feet of residential buildings, academic buildings, and dining facilities, nor anywhere on the campus of the Medical Center. Smoking is prohibited in specifically designated outdoor areas as determined by the manager of those spaces (e.g., Bryan Center Plaza).

Solicitation

Recognized student organizations may use the Bryan Center Plaza for the purpose of sales, distribution, or promotion of events (also known as “tabling”). Tabling is administered by University Center Activities and Events (UCAE). Contact UCAE at 919-684-4741, 036 Bryan Center, or visit studentaffairs.duke.edu/ucae for more information and detailed guidelines.

Solicitation is prohibited within a 200-foot radius of the West and East Campus bus stops.

Commercial or outside solicitors (including student employees of outside vendors) are prohibited without permission of the appropriate space manager.

Stalking

Stalking is a course of conduct (including cyberstalking) directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for her, his, or others’ safety, or to offer substantial emotional distress. Sex/gender-based stalking falls under the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy (see page 41).

Unauthorized Surveillance/Photography

Capturing or recording audio, video, or photographic images of an individual in a location or under circumstances in which that person has a reasonable expectation of privacy, including, but not limited to, shower/locker rooms, residence hall rooms, and restrooms, is prohibited. Also prohibited is the storing, sharing, and/or other distribution of such unauthorized surveillance/photography (no matter whether directly or indirectly obtained) by any means, electronic or non-electronic.

Wording adopted from Rice University.

Weapons/Firearms/Explosives

Although North Carolina law permits weapons on public university campuses under certain parameters, Duke University policy has not changed and continues to prohibit weapons on campus.
It is against university policy to possess and/or use a gun, rifle, pistol, or other firearm of any kind, or any powerful explosive on university property. Additionally, other than when permitted by the Vice President for Student Affairs (or his/her designee) for legitimate educational purposes, students are not permitted to possess and/or use on campus any weapon, including but not limited to mace, BB gun, stun gun, paintball gun, potato gun, realistic-looking toy gun, air rifle, air pistol, sword, bowie knife, dagger, slingshot, switchblade knife, blackjack, and metallic knuckles.

Other Violations

Other violations for which students or groups may be subject to disciplinary action include, but are not limited to:

• Violating any other published or posted university regulation not specifically mentioned in this section, including the Housing License, Housing, Dining, and Residence Life regulations, student activities regulations, guidelines for organizations, parking regulations, etc.

• Acting as an accomplice through action or negligence to the commission of any prohibited act.

• Attempting or intending to commit any violation of laws and/or university policies.

• Violating local ordinances or state or federal laws (as determined through the university’s disciplinary process), including those related to noise, housing occupancy, and/or the use or distribution of alcohol.
I. Introduction

Duke University is committed to encouraging and sustaining a learning and living community that is free from harassment, violence, and prohibited discrimination. In that regard and consistent with federal law (e.g., Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and the Violence Against Women Act), Duke has developed this comprehensive Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, applicable to all students (undergraduate, graduate, and professional). Further, Duke conducts extensive education and awareness programs with the goal of preventing and discouraging sexual/gender violence and other forms of sexual misconduct.

As discussed more fully below, this Student Sexual Misconduct Policy prohibits all forms of sex/gender-based harassment, sexual/gender violence, sexual exploitation, relationship violence (domestic violence and dating violence), and stalking. Collectively, these terms are referred to in this policy as “Sexual Misconduct.” They are defined below under “Prohibited Conduct.” (Note that non-sex/gender-based harassment is also a violation of university policy, as described under the university’s Harassment Policy, available at http://bit.ly/dukeharassment.)

The Student Sexual Misconduct Policy serves three principal purposes. First, it establishes conduct standards—namely, prohibited sexual misconduct—for all Duke students. Note that a violation of this policy may also constitute a crime, which can be independently reported to Duke Police, Durham Police, or other appropriate law enforcement agency.

Second, the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy outlines reporting, investigation, and complaint resolution procedures in cases where it is alleged that a Duke student has engaged in sexual misconduct. This policy refers to the individual who is the alleged victim of the behavior(s) in question as the “complainant” and the student alleged to have committed the violation of the policy as the “respondent.” Both the complainant and the respondent will be treated fairly and with respect throughout the process. Respondents are entitled to a presumption of innocence throughout the disciplinary process unless and until they are found responsible for a violation of this policy.

In the paragraphs that follow, the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy specifies to whom violations of this policy should be reported, the availability of confidential reporting, administrative actions available to the complainant and the respondent, how the university will investigate and resolve alleged violations, possible sanctions, and appeals.

The Office of Student Conduct is primarily responsible for implementing these procedures. Anyone with concerns about a possible violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy by a student is encouraged to contact the Office of Student Conduct at 919-684-6938, conduct@duke.edu, or through an online reporting system at www.reportdukestudentmisconduct.com.
Third, the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy describes resources available on campus and in the community to assist students in dealing with the impact of sexual misconduct, whether it happened recently or in the past. Such services include, for example, the Office of Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention (GVPI) in the Women’s Center, Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS), DukeReach, Duke Police (for possible criminal conduct), and administrative actions arranged or issued by the Office of Student Conduct, GVPI, and/or the Vice President for Student Affairs (or designee). In addition, resources are available to respondents during and, in some cases, after the complaint process.

Dr. Benjamin D. Reese (919-684-8222, ben.reese@duke.edu), Vice President of the Office for Institutional Equity (www.duke.edu/web/equity), is the individual responsible for the coordination and administration of Duke’s nondiscrimination and harassment policies generally. Howard Kallem (919-684-1437, howard.kallem@duke.edu), also in the Office for Institutional Equity, is the Director of Title IX Compliance. In this role, Mr. Kallem is responsible for overseeing the university’s Title IX compliance, including this policy and its complaint-resolution procedures; as such, Mr. Kallem receives comments/concerns from students about this policy’s implementation. The Office for Institutional Equity is located in Smith Warehouse, 114 S. Buchanan Blvd., Bay 8, Durham, North Carolina, 27708.

II. General

Scope

This Student Sexual Misconduct Policy is enforced by the Office of Student Conduct and applies to any instance in which any Duke student (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) is alleged to have engaged in sexual misconduct against anyone (e.g., a student, employee, or third party such as a visiting athlete, guest speaker, or contractor), regardless of the complainant’s or respondent’s sex, gender, sexual orientation, or gender identity.1 The university will respond to any complaint of sexual misconduct, including conduct alleged to have occurred during breaks, leaves of absence, or periods of dismissal, whether on or off campus. The disciplinary process is available as an option while a respondent remains a student at Duke.

Information for Complainants

Complainants will be treated with respect before, during, and after the disciplinary process. During an initial meeting, the Office of Student Conduct will inform the complainant of the university’s disciplinary process and possible outcomes. The Office of Student Conduct will communicate substantive and, when warranted, procedural developments regarding an investigation. The alleged conduct may also be criminal in nature, and complainants have the right to report—or not to report—the conduct to Duke Police, Durham Police, or other appropriate law enforcement agency. A criminal report does not preclude university disciplinary action.

Complainants are strongly encouraged to seek counseling and support available through resources such as Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention (GVPI) in the Women’s Center, Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS), and Durham Crisis Response Center (DCRC). For more information on these resources, please see the section of this policy titled "Support Services and Options for Complainants" on page 51.

1 The Office for Institutional Equity (Smith Warehouse, Bay 8, 919-684-8222) receives reports and handles complaints alleging sexual misconduct by employees and all other non-Duke students under the Duke University Harassment Policy, https://web.duke.edu/equity/resources/policies.html.
Regardless of whether a complainant pursues a criminal complaint and/or the university’s complaint process through this policy, the university may investigate the incident(s) in question and will take appropriate responsive action to ensure that the educational environment is free of harassment and to prevent the recurrence of a hostile environment—and, if appropriate, remedy the effects of the alleged harassment on the complainant. As discussed later in the policy, remedies available to a complainant may include, but are not limited to: reasonable academic accommodations, on-campus housing reassignment, a “no contact” directive between the respondent and the complainant, and disciplinary action against the respondent as determined through the disciplinary process outlined in this policy. Mediation is not appropriate for any allegation of sexual violence.

Complainants may request administrative actions and supports such as a “no contact” directive and changes to academic and living situations through the Office of Student Conduct, GVPI in the Women’s Center, and/or the Title IX Coordinator regardless of whether they file a formal report and will be notified as to what changes are reasonably available.

Information for Respondents

Respondents will be treated with respect before, during, and after the disciplinary process. During an initial meeting, the Office of Student Conduct will inform the respondent of the university’s disciplinary process and possible outcomes. The Office of Student Conduct will communicate substantive and, when warranted, procedural developments regarding an investigation. Note that alleged behavior may also be criminal in nature, and a respondent may be subject to a criminal investigation by the appropriate law enforcement agency at the same time as an investigation by the university under this policy; the respondent may wish to consult with a criminal lawyer as the Office of Student Conduct does not provide advice as to the criminal process. Respondents are entitled to a presumption of innocence throughout the disciplinary process unless and until they are found responsible for a violation of this policy.

Respondents have the right to (and are strongly encouraged to seek) counseling and support available through resources such as CAPS, DukeReach, or other university and local resources.

Respondents may request through the Office of Student Conduct and/or the Title IX Coordinator changes to academic and living situations and will be notified as to what changes are reasonably available.

III. Prohibited Conduct

Rule. Duke University prohibits all forms of sex/gender-based harassment, sexual/gender violence, sexual exploitation, relationship violence (domestic violence and dating violence), and stalking.

Sex/Gender-Based Harassment. Sex- or gender-based harassment may take two forms:

One form of harassment is unwelcome verbal or physical conduct based on sex that, because of its severity and/or persistence, creates a hostile environment by interfering significantly with an individual’s work or education, or adversely affecting an individual’s living conditions.

The other form of harassment is a student’s use of a position of authority (e.g., as a TA, RA, team captain, or officer in a fraternity or sorority) to engage in unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

• submission to such conduct is explicitly or implicitly made a term or condition of an individual’s employment or education; or
• submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as a basis for decisions affecting an individual’s education or employment.

The conduct alleged to constitute harassment under this policy must be sufficiently severe and pervasive to actually interfere with the complainant’s work, education, or living conditions to a significant degree. The severity and pervasiveness of the alleged conduct will also be evaluated from the perspective of a reasonable person similarly situated to the complainant and in consideration of the context of the behavior.

Harassment must be distinguished from behavior that, even though unpleasant or disconcerting, is appropriate to the carrying out of certain instructional, advisory, or supervisory responsibilities or to legitimate academic and related discussions.

Examples of conduct that may constitute sex/gender-based harassment include:

- Continued unwelcome questioning about intimate or personal matters
- Unwelcome touching or physical acts of a sexual nature
- Severe or pervasive comments or jokes of a sexual nature
- Severe or pervasive unwelcome comments or conduct regarding an individual’s sexual orientation or gender identity
- Sending emails that contain extreme or persistent sexual messages, images, or language
- Repeated derogatory comments of a non-sexual nature relating to a particular sex/gender generally and targeted to (as) specific individual(s) of that sex/gender
- Sex/gender-based violence -- non-sexual physical assault of an individual because of the individual’s sex or gender

Harassment may be verbal, nonverbal, or physical and the above list is not exhaustive, but intended only to provide general examples of possible prohibited conduct.

Sexual Violence. Sexual violence is a particularly severe form of harassment defined as any physical act of a sexual nature based on sex and perpetrated against an individual without consent or when an individual is unable to freely give consent.

Acts of a sexual nature include, but are not limited to, touching or attempted touching of an unwilling person’s breasts, buttocks, inner thighs, groin, or genitalia, either directly or indirectly; and/or sexual penetration (however slight) of another person’s oral, anal, or genital opening with any body part or object.

Sexual/gender violence may or may not be accompanied by the use of coercion or intimidation, or through advantage gained by the use of alcohol or other drugs.

Sexual Exploitation. Sexual exploitation includes taking non-consensual, sexual advantage of another for one’s benefit or the benefit of another party.

Relationship Violence. Relationship violence is any act of violence or pattern of abusive behavior in an intimate relationship that is used by one partner to gain or maintain power and control over another partner. Relationship violence can be physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that influence another person. Relationship violence includes domestic violence and dating violence (adapted from the Office on Violence Against Women, U.S. Department of Justice, justice.gov/ovw/domestic-violence).
- Domestic violence is any act of violence or pattern of abusive behavior committed by a student against the student’s current or former spouse/cohabitant, person similarly situated under domestic or family violence law, or anyone else protected under domestic or family violence law.

- Dating violence is any act of violence or pattern of abusive behavior committed by a student who has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the complainant. Whether there was such relationship will be gauged by its length, type, and frequency of interaction.

Sex/Gender-Based Stalking. Sex/gender-based stalking is a course of conduct (including cyberstalking) directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for her, his, or others’ safety, or to suffer substantial emotional distress. Stalking by a student not based on sex or gender is addressed under the Stalking Policy on page 37.

Retaliation

Retaliation is prohibited under this policy. Retaliation is words or acts taken in response to good faith reporting of sexual misconduct, participation in Duke’s complaint process or the follow up to a complaint, or otherwise opposing what the individual reasonably believes to be sexual misconduct. Retaliation will be a violation of this policy when it is sufficiently serious (e.g., severe and/or pervasive) to discourage a reasonable person from further such activity. The protection against retaliation applies to both parties and to all witnesses. All persons who believe they have been subjected to misconduct under this policy are encouraged and have the option to seek support, utilize available resources, and come forward with their concern or complaint.

IV. Consent

Consent is an affirmative decision to engage in mutually acceptable sexual activity given by clear actions or words.

Consent is an informed decision made freely and actively by all parties. Relying solely upon nonverbal communication can lead to miscommunication. It is important not to make assumptions; if confusion or ambiguity on the issue of consent arises anytime during a sexual interaction, it is essential that each participant stops and clarifies, verbally, willingness to continue.

Students should understand that consent may not be inferred from silence, passivity, or lack of active resistance alone. Furthermore, a current or previous dating or sexual relationship is not sufficient to constitute consent, and consent to one form of sexual activity does not imply consent to other forms of sexual activity.

Conduct will be considered “without consent” if no clear consent, verbal or nonverbal, is given. The perspective of a reasonable person will be the basis for determining whether a respondent knew, or reasonably should have known, whether consent was given. However, being intoxicated or incapacitated does not diminish one’s responsibility to obtain consent and will not be an excuse for sexual misconduct.

In some situations, an individual may not be able to freely consent. Examples include, but are not limited to, when an individual is incapacitated due to alcohol or other drugs, scared, physically forced, passed out, asleep, unconscious, intimidated, coerced, mentally or physically impaired, beaten, threatened, isolated, or confined. The perspective of a reasonable person will be the basis for determining whether a respondent knew, or reasonably should have known, whether a complainant was capable of providing consent.

The Impact of Alcohol or Other Drugs

The use of alcohol or other drugs can impair effective communication about sexual activity and can hinder one’s ability to pick up on danger cues and resist an assault. Alcohol or other drugs can also lower inhibitions and create an atmosphere of confusion over whether consent is freely and effectively given.

Fear of retaliation should never be an obstacle to reporting an incident of alleged sex/gender-based harassment, sexual/gender violence, relationship violence, or stalking.

The use of alcohol or other drugs can impair effective communication about sexual activity and can hinder one's ability to pick up on danger cues and resist an assault. Alcohol or other drugs can also lower inhibitions and create an atmosphere of confusion over whether consent is freely and effectively given.
V. Complaint Resolution

Reporting

Students are encouraged to report violations of this policy to the Office of Student Conduct, 200 Crowell Hall, conduct@duke.edu, 919-684-6938, www.reportdukestudentmisconduct.com. A flow chart illustrating the complaint resolution process is available on page 54.

Once a report is received, an investigation and possible remedial actions may occur, including adjudication through the disciplinary process described below, administrative actions (e.g., a “no contact” directive, trespass from campus, interim suspension), reasonable academic or housing modifications, or other remedies designed to reasonably minimize the recurrence of such conduct as well as mitigate the effects of the alleged behavior.

Confidentiality

A student may confidentially discuss a violation of this policy (i.e., without the information being reported to the Office of Student Conduct) to those who serve in a professional role in which communication is privileged under North Carolina law and to those whom the university has designated as a confidential resource consistent with Title IX. Persons who may maintain strict confidentiality under university policy and within the scope of their professional responsibilities are limited to:

- Student Health staff
- Counseling & Psychological Services (CAPS) staff
- Women’s Center staff
- Clergy who are acting as such in their professional role at Duke

Students should be aware that, with the exception of these confidential resources, all employees who become aware of conduct that might fall under this policy are expected to notify the Office of Student Conduct with the names of the parties involved and the details of the report. Students who serve in an ongoing peer-advising role (such as Resident Assistants) are also expected to file such reports with the Office of Student Conduct.

A complainant may request that the Office of Student Conduct not reveal the complainant’s identity in responding to a report. (In some situations, it may be possible to proceed fully with an investigation without disclosing the name of the complainant.) A complainant may also request that the university take limited or no action in response to a report.

A request to preserve the confidentiality of any party involved in a report or that no action be taken should be made to the Office of Student Conduct, 919-684-6938, conduct@duke.edu. Staff in the Office of Student Conduct will confer with the Title IX Coordinator about the request and inform the party of the extent to which confidentiality may be maintained. The university will attempt to preserve the confidentiality of the complainant and/or respect a request for limited or no action in response to a report except when, in the university’s judgment, doing so would jeopardize the safety of members of the university community (including the complainant) or where the university is required by law to disclose the information (such as in response to a legal process).

All participants (including the complainant and respondent, witnesses, advisors, and members of hearing panels) in any part of the outlined process that follows are expected to respect the privacy of the proceedings and circumstances giving rise to the report.
Time Frames

The university’s goal is to resolve complaints under this policy within 60 business days from receipt of a report, excluding days classes are not in session. An investigation typically takes 21 to 45 business days to complete. Generally within 14 business days after completion of an investigation a hearing, if applicable, is scheduled. During this time, staff in the Office of Student Conduct may seek clarifying information and/or meet with a complainant, respondent, investigator, or others.

Circumstances may require the university to extend this overall time frame or any individual time frame discussed in this policy. Examples of reasons why time frames may need to be extended include the complexity of the case, delays due to fall/spring/summer/holiday breaks, inclement weather, and other extenuating circumstances. Exceptions to these time frames will be communicated to the complainant and respondent.

Advisors

A complainant and a respondent have access to Disciplinary Advisors trained by the Office of Student Conduct to guide them through the disciplinary process, though complainants and respondents may consult with anyone they wish (including an attorney) during any stage of this process. One advisor of the complainant’s/respondent’s choice (either the university-appointed Disciplinary Advisor or another advisor of their choice) may accompany the complainant/respondent to any meeting with Office of Student Conduct staff, the investigator, or to a hearing. The advisor’s role in any meeting or hearing is limited to quietly conferring with the complainant or respondent through written correspondence or whisper, and the advisor may not address any other participant or the hearing panel. An advisor may not also be a witness.

Investigation

The Office of Student Conduct is charged with investigating reports of violations of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. During an investigation, a complainant and respondent have an opportunity to present witnesses and other evidence. The investigation will generally involve:

- Meeting with a complainant and respondent separately in order to hear or clarify each party’s account of the incident, review the disciplinary process, and discuss other possible remedies.

- Launching a formal investigation through the use of an investigator who interviews witnesses, collects additional information, and submits a written report. The investigator and/or the Office of Student Conduct will determine whether to interview an identified witness and the extent to which testimony of a witness is relevant and/or will be included in a report.

- After the formal investigation, asking clarifying questions of the complainant, the respondent, and/or witnesses.

The Office of Student Conduct will determine whether to proceed with the disciplinary process based on its assessment of whether there is sufficient information to believe that a policy violation may have occurred.

Should a determination be made not to proceed with the disciplinary process, the complainant may meet with Office of Student Conduct staff to review that decision. Should a determination be made to proceed with the disciplinary process, the procedures outlined below in the section “Hearing Procedures” will apply.
During an investigation and until resolution of the matter, administrative actions may be issued as deemed appropriate, including restrictions on contact between the complainant and the respondent, exclusion from areas of campus, and removal or relocation from residential areas. The Vice President for Student Affairs, or designee, may impose an interim suspension.

VI. Hearing Procedures

When the Office of Student Conduct decides that a case should proceed to a hearing, the case may be resolved either through an administrative resolution or a hearing panel. Under both types of proceedings, the university will use a “preponderance of the evidence” standard.

Administrative Hearing

At the discretion of the Office of Student Conduct, and with the agreement of both the complainant and respondent, a report may be resolved through an administrative hearing. The parties will be notified (typically via email) of the specific violations of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy under consideration in advance of an administrative hearing. A designee of the Office of Student Conduct will review the information gathered during the investigation separately and in private with each party and give each party an opportunity to respond. The designee will determine if the respondent is responsible for the alleged policy violation(s), and, if so, issue (an) appropriate sanction(s). The parties will be notified of the outcomes concurrently. If the respondent or complainant does not accept the administrative hearing resolution, either party may request by the stated deadline (typically 72 hours after notification of the outcome) a hearing before a hearing panel, as described below. If such a request is made, the Office of Student Conduct will then proceed in scheduling a hearing panel. The proposed outcome from the administrative hearing will not be disclosed to the hearing panel unless the complainant or respondent shares such information.

Hearing Panel

If the Office of Student Conduct decides the case should be resolved through a hearing panel, the Office of Student Conduct will appoint a specially trained three-person hearing panel (typically including two faculty or staff members and one student and, when possible, at least one representative of the complainant’s and respondent’s school[s]) to resolve a complaint under this policy. A finding of responsibility must be based on a unanimous vote. Sanctions of suspension or expulsion must also be supported by a unanimous vote. A majority vote is required for all other sanctions.

The following procedures apply to a complaint that proceeds to a hearing panel:

- Notice: Both the complainant and the respondent will be notified at least 120 hours in advance of the date and time of the hearing and the names of the hearing panelists.

- Hearing Packet: In advance of the hearing, the Office of Student Conduct prepares a packet with information it deems relevant to the case to be shared with the hearing panel. The Office of Student Conduct will share a copy of that packet with both the complainant and the respondent at least 120 hours in advance of the hearing. If a complainant or respondent wishes to share additional relevant written information to a hearing panel in advance of the hearing, it must be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct at least 72 hours before the hearing. If deemed relevant by the Office of Student Conduct, that material will be shared with the complainant/respondent and the hearing panel.

- Conflict of Interest: A complainant and/or respondent may challenge the participation of a panelist because of perceived conflict of interest, bias, or prejudice. Such challenges, including rationale, must be made to the Office of Student Conduct at least 48 hours prior to the commencement of the hearing. At its discretion, the Office of Student Conduct will determine whether such a conflict of interest exists and whether a panelist should be replaced.

- Witnesses: A complainant and respondent may offer relevant material witnesses to provide information. Absent exceptional circumstances, the complainant and respondent should inform the Office of Student Conduct in writing at least 48 hours in advance of the hearing the names of any witnesses and what information they will provide. Names of witnesses submitted to the Office of Student Conduct by the complainant or respondent will be shared with the other party in advance of the hearing. The hearing panel may, in its sole discretion, exclude witnesses or witness testimony the panel considers irrelevant or duplicative.

- Character References: A complainant and respondent may each submit two character references written on their behalf to a hearing panel before the hearing begins. Character references may only address the character of the complainant/respondent and may not address the specific issue at hand or the character of the other party. A character reference may not also serve as a material witness.

- Electronic Devices: A respondent, complainant, advisor, and/or witness may not bring electronic devices that capture or facilitate communication (e.g., computer, cell phone, audio/video recorder, etc.) into a hearing room. The Office of Student Conduct will make an audio recording of the hearing to be kept on file for three years. Reasonable care will be taken to create a quality audio recording and minimize technical problems; however, technical problems that result in no recording or an inaudible one will not be a valid argument for appeal.

- Hearing Procedure: A hearing panel has general authority over the conduct of the hearing (e.g., it may set time frames for witness testimony and it may limit opening/closing statements or their length, etc.). The general course of procedure for a panel hearing is as follows: introductions; respondent’s statement accepting or denying responsibility; opening comments from the complainant; opening comments from the respondent; questions from the panel; testimony/questions of other material witnesses (if applicable); closing comments from the complainant; and, closing comments from the respondent. A complainant or respondent may not question each other or other witnesses directly, but may raise questions to be asked of that party through the hearing panel, which will determine whether to ask them. The hearing panel determines the relevancy of any information presented/submitted at the hearing and can exclude irrelevant information.

- Relevance:
  - In evaluating the relevance of information, the Office of Student Conduct or the hearing panel, as appropriate, considers, among other things, whether the information bears on a fact at issue in the case, is more prejudicial than probative, or is duplicative.
  - A complainant’s or respondent’s prior or subsequent sexual activity is typically not relevant and will only be considered as evidence when the previous or subsequent behavior was substantially similar to the conduct at issue or indicates a pattern of behavior and substantial conformity with that pattern.

The complainant and respondent will receive verbal notification of the decision of a hearing panel no later than five business days after the hearing. Notification will be individually given to the respondent and complainant at approximately the same time. A written hearing report outlining the decision and rationale of the hearing panel will be delivered to the respondent and the complainant within 10 business days of the hearing panel’s decision.

Sanctions

Sanctions for a finding of responsibility include, but are not limited to, expulsion, suspension, disciplinary probation, recommended counseling, and/or other educational sanctions. The hearing body will determine the sanctions, first considering whether expulsion (permanent removal) from the university is appropriate. While expulsion is the starting point for consideration, the hearing body has discretion to decide that (a) different sanction(s) is (are) appropriate. Factors pertinent to the determination of what sanction applies include, but are not limited to, the nature of the conduct at issue, prior disciplinary history of the respondent (shared with a panel only upon a finding of responsibility for the allegation), previous university response to similar conduct, and university interests (e.g., in providing a safe environment for all).

Remedies

The Director for Title IX Compliance and/or staff in the Office of Student Conduct will work with the complainant and appropriate university administrators to identify and implement any appropriate/necessary long-term or permanent remedies to address the effects of the conduct on the complainant, restore the complainant's safety and well-being, and maximize the complainant's educational and employment opportunities. Remedies seek to restore to the complainant, to the extent possible, benefits and opportunities lost as a result of the alleged sexual misconduct. The Director for Title IX Compliance and/or staff in the Office of Student Conduct will also identify appropriate remedies to address any effects of the alleged conduct on the university community. Long-term remedies may include extending or making permanent any interim protective measures or implementing additional measures. Many of the remedies and supports that a complainant might need after a finding of responsibility will have already been provided as interim measures, including but not limited to academic accommodations, short-term counseling, and housing arrangements. The Director for Title IX Compliance and/or staff in the Office of Student Conduct will consider whether there is a need for additional remedies, which may include “no contact” directives, and reassignment or removal of the respondent from a class or on-campus living area.

Appeals

A respondent or complainant may submit a written appeal of the hearing panel’s decision. Appeals are limited to 1500 words based on one or more of the following: 1) new information not reasonably available before the hearing that could significantly affect the finding (defined as the hearing panel’s decision of “responsible” or “not responsible”) and/or sanction(s); 2) procedural errors within the investigation or hearing process which may have significantly affected the finding (as defined above); and/or 3) the finding (as defined above) has no plausible basis in the record before the hearing panel. An appeal is not a re-hearing of the case.

An appeal must be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct within five business days of written notification of the hearing panel’s decision. The appeal statement must identify the ground(s) for appeal.

The composition of the Appellate Board for cases arising under this policy includes members of the university community appointed by the Dean and Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education in consultation with the Title IX Coordinator and appropriate university and student leadership. A four-person panel of the Appellate Board, typically including, when possible, at least one faculty, staff member, or student from the complainant’s and respondent’s school(s), will review the appeal, any response provided by the other party (complainant or respondent), the hearing report, any information included in the hearing, and any additional information from the record it deems relevant. A complainant or respondent may request to meet with the panel of the Appellate Board to amplify the reason(s) for the appeal or to respond to the appeal; if the panel meets with either party, it will invite the other party to the meeting.

The Appellate Board’s role is limited to reviewing the hearing panel record and the information presented in, and in response to, the appeal with one exception: If the appeal raises procedural errors, the appellate panel may, if necessary to resolve the appeal, interview (a) staff member(s) in the Office of Student Conduct to gather more information about the alleged procedural error. The appellate panel will invite the complainant and the respondent to participate in the interview with the staff member(s) and the Appellate Board. The respondent and the complainant may respond once the interview with the staff member is complete.
After its review, the appellate panel will resolve the case; or, if more information is needed from (an) additional witness(es), it will remand the case to the original hearing panel with instructions to call the witness(es) and to reconsider its decision in light of that additional testimony. (If the case is remanded to the Office for Student Conduct for additional consideration by the original hearing panel, the parties will be given the opportunity to appeal the subsequent decision of the hearing panel under the same conditions and time frame as above; however, the new appeal will be limited to the issue[s] considered in response to the original appeal.) To overturn the hearing panel’s decision, at least three of the four Appellate Board panelists must support changing the decision of the hearing panel.

The Appellate Board will generally decide an appeal within 15 business days from when the appeal was received; if the decision will take longer, the Appellate Board will let the parties know. The Appellate Board will provide written notification of the final decision to the complainant and respondent at approximately the same time.
Getting Help

Any student at Duke University who experiences sexual/gender violence—regardless of sex/gender—may contact the Women’s Center at 919-886-6814 or email WCHelp@duke.edu. See “Support Services and Options for Complainants” below for additional information. In case of emergency or immediate threat, call 911 or Duke Police at 919-684-2444.

Support Services and Options for Complainants

A variety of support resources are available on campus and in the community to assist students in dealing with sexual misconduct, whether it happened recently or in the past. The following is a list of helpful resources. Additional resource information is available at studentaffairs.duke.edu/wc.

Information, advocacy, counseling, and emotional support. The Office of Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention (GVPI) provides education, advocacy, and support for students who experience sexual and relationship violence, sex/gender-based harassment, and sex/gender-based stalking, as well as for their friends and families. Students of any gender can receive information, support, and accompaniment regarding medical treatment, reporting options, academic and residential accommodations, referrals, legal options, and trauma-focused therapy. Walk-in or scheduled appointments with the GVPI Coordinator are available during business hours by calling 919-684-3897, emailing womenctr@duke.edu, or by visiting the Women’s Center located at 107 Few Fed Building near the bus stop across from the Allen Building. Emergency after-hours assistance is available by calling 919-886-6814. All services are free and confidential and do not require making a formal report to the police or the university.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) also offers ongoing counseling services; call 919-660-1000 for an appointment. For 24-hour crisis information and referral, contact the GVPI information line at 919-681-6882, the Dean on-Call (pager number 919-970-4169), or the Durham Crisis Response Center at 919-403-6562 (for 24-hour hotline). All services are confidential and do not require making a formal report to the police or the university.

Medical concerns. Students should seek medical attention immediately to have the most options for the prevention of pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections. Even if physical injuries are not apparent, one may have injuries as a result of sexual assault that are not easily seen. For immediate and urgent medical concerns, students may go directly to the Emergency Department (ED) of Duke Medical Center (off Erwin Road near Trent Hall). Duke Police (911 or 919-684-2444 from non-campus phones) can provide transportation without students having to make a report. Services available at the Emergency Department are: medical care, evidence collection, emergency contraception, and sexually transmitted infection prevention.

Evidence can be collected anonymously. Evidence is best collected within 120 hours of the assault. Pursuing a criminal case is not necessary in order to have the evidence collected anonymously. A blind report can be filed that includes no identifying information other than a case number. A student may decide later whether to file a police report. Health insurance and the State of North Carolina may cover portions of the costs of medical care. The GVPI coordinator in the Women’s Center will help students address any concerns they have about covering the costs of the medical exam or other related expenses. Both the Emergency Department and Student Health have Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANE), who are specially trained to work with individual who have been sexually assaulted.

For less immediate medical concerns, students may schedule an appointment at Student Health (919-681-WELL). The services available are: medical care, emergency contraception, and sexually transmitted infection prevention. The student health fee covers all services, except for a minimal charge for emergency contraception. Staff from GVPI can accompany students to the ED or Student Health.

Reporting to the police. Sexual misconduct may be criminal in nature, and a student may choose to file a report with law enforcement. Duke Police (911 or 919-684-2444 from non-campus phones) will respond to emergencies and non-emergencies to provide assistance by intervening in cases of assault, providing transportation to the Emergency Department, taking reports of an assault, and/or investigating and participating in legal or disciplinary action. They are responsible for notifying the community in a case of continuing danger, issuing a trespass order that requires an individual to stay away from campus or a particular area of campus when needed, and providing referrals and information including how to obtain a restraining order. Assaults that occur off campus may fall under the jurisdiction of the Durham Police Department or other law enforcement agency. Students may contact the Durham Police directly (911 off campus or 919-560-4427/560-4609) or the GVPI office or Duke Police can help facilitate reporting. Blind reporting—filing a report without one’s name attached to it—is an available option with both Duke Police and Durham Police. Regardless of whether a complainant pursues a criminal complaint, the university will investigate the incident in question and take appropriate responsive action to ensure that the educational environment at Duke is free of harassment and to prevent the recurrence of a hostile environment, and, as appropriate, to remedy the effects of the harassment.

Examples of Sexual Misconduct

Angela and Aaron have been in an ongoing relationship for a year and a half and have engaged in consensual sexual intercourse. One night while becoming intimate, Angela stops and says she doesn’t feel like having sex that night. Aaron continues to touch her, saying that she got him excited and it wasn’t fair of her to lead him on like that. Again, Angela tells him she does not want to have sex, and then is silent. Aaron decides she has given in, and proceeds to have sexual intercourse with her.

This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Aaron had sexual intercourse with Angela against her will. The fact that Angela has freely consented to sexual intercourse with Aaron in the past does NOT mean he has her consent in this situation.

Erin is talking to several of her friends in the hallway at a crowded party. Ryan, a student she knows from chemistry class, comes up behind her and places his arms around her waist. She says hi to Ryan and continues her conversation. Ryan gradually moves his hands up to her breasts. She turns to him and tells him to stop, saying she doesn’t want to be touched in that way and that he should have more respect for her. He laughs, tells her she takes herself too seriously, and again begins to grope her.

This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Ryan touched Erin in a sexual way without her consent, and continued to do so after she told him to stop. This behavior is a form of sexual/gender violence.

Kristen and Myra have been intimate for a few weeks. One night, Myra calls Kristen and asks her to come over. When she arrives, Myra kisses Kristen passionately and leads her into the bedroom. They each express their excitement and desire to “hook up,” and are soon making out heavily in Myra’s bed. After a while, Kristen tries to engage in oral sex with Myra. Myra tells Kristen that she really likes her, but that she doesn’t feel ready for that. Kristen tells Myra she’s just being shy, and ignores her when she repeats that she doesn’t feel ready. Finally, Kristen threatens to reveal on the Internet that Myra is a lesbian. Because Myra has not yet come out to her friends and family, she becomes frightened and silent. Kristen proceeds with oral sex.

This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Because of Kristen’s manipulative and threatening arguments, Myra was afraid and unable to freely give her consent. Kristen did not receive consent from Myra and has committed sexual/gender violence.

Liz and Tom have been together for six months. Liz often tells her friends stories of Tom’s sexual prowess, and decides to prove it to them. One night, she and Tom engage in consensual sexual intercourse. Without Tom’s knowledge, Liz sets up her digital camera to videotape them having sex. The next evening, she uploads the video to an online video-sharing site and discusses it with her friends online.
This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Tom’s consent to engage in sexual intercourse with Liz did NOT mean Liz had obtained his consent to videotape it. This is a form of sexual exploitation.

Andrew and Felix have been flirting with each other all night at a party. Around 12:30 a.m., Felix excuses himself to find a bathroom. Andrew notices Felix slurring his speech. Andrew wonders if Felix went to the bathroom to vomit. When Felix returns, the two begin flirting more heavily and move to a couch. As the conversation continues, the two become more relaxed and more physically affectionate. Andrew soon suggests they go back to his room, and Felix agrees. As they walk down the stairs, Andrew notices that Felix looks unstable and offers his arm for support and balance. When they get back to his room, Andrew leads Felix to the bed and they begin to become intimate. Felix becomes increasingly passive and appears disoriented. Andrew soon begins to have sexual intercourse with him. The next morning, Felix thinks they had sex but cannot piece together the events leading up to it.

This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Felix was passive, and the Policy states that consent may not be inferred from silence, passivity, or lack of active resistance. Moreover, Felix was clearly incapacitated by alcohol, and thus unable to freely consent to engage in sexual activity with Andrew. Although Andrew may not have known how much alcohol Felix had consumed, he saw indicators from which a reasonable person would conclude that Felix was incapacitated, and therefore unable to give consent. Andrew in no way had consent from Felix.

Denise is a graduate teaching assistant in Paul’s economics class. She notes that he has not been performing well on take-home assignments and exams. Both of them have come to a party, each with their own group of friends. Denise has consumed one can of beer, while Paul is rather intoxicated. Denise sees Paul and approaches him. She flirts with him, telling him that she can help him improve his grades if he will hook up with her. As Paul turns to walk away, Denise grabs his buttocks and squeezes them.

This is a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Denise, in a position of power over Paul as his teaching assistant, attempted to arrange a quid pro quo sexual relationship. Additionally, she did not seek consent from Paul to touch him, even if a reasonable person could conclude that Paul was not too intoxicated in order to provide consent.

This would not be a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Sexual harassment is unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature that, because of its severity and/or persistence, interferes significantly with an individual’s work or education. The conduct is evaluated from the perspective of a reasonable person and in consideration of the context of the behavior. It is not enough that other students are offended by the article for it to be a violation of the policy. Duke is committed to principles of academic freedom and conduct with a legitimate educational or related purpose will not be considered a policy violation.

A student had recently visited another country; on his return, he wrote an article for the Chronicle in which he used sexually explicit terms and examples to describe the treatment of women in that country. Other students are offended by the article.

Abby and Mike are graduate students working in the same lab. They have been dating for a year. Abby often calls Mike names and damages his belongings when she’s upset. She once poured a soda over his laptop after she saw him talking to another woman. Last week, she threw a cell phone at his head when he was late picking her up from work.

This would be a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. Relationship violence, including domestic and dating violence, includes physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that reasonable person in similar circumstances would find intimidating, frightening, terrorizing, or threatening.

Monica filed a complaint with the Office of Student Conduct alleging that, after she broke up with Marcus, Marcus has been stalking her. Marcus has told his friends about the complaint and several of them have launched a Twitter campaign threatening Monica and the witnesses supporting her claim if Monica doesn’t drop the complaint.

The conduct by Marcus’s friends would be a violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. The policy prohibits retaliation against anyone who files a complaint or participates in the investigation of a complaint.
Student Conduct Process for Sexual Misconduct Allegations

Student complainant or third party reports incident of Sexual Misconduct to a) Office of Student Conduct (OSC) or b) to a university employee, who informs OSC and provides names of the parties involved, if known. Note: Privileged employees (e.g., medical providers, therapists, clergy) are exempt from reporting to OSC.

OSC sends the student complainant a letter requesting to meet and outlines resources for support, including the option to file a report with the appropriate law enforcement agency.

OSC forwards to Office of Gender Violence Prevention & Intervention (GVPI) in the Women’s Center a copy of the report. GVPI reaches out to the complainant to provide confidential support. A student who declines to meet with OSC may still meet with GVPI staff.

An investigation may be conducted and a report of findings submitted.

A "no contact" directive may be put into place between the complainant and the respondent. Additional administrative actions may be considered.

A determination will be made by OSC whether sufficient information exists to move forward with a hearing.

At the discretion of OSC, an administrative hearing may be conducted to resolve the matter. If both complainant and respondent accept resolution, the matter is resolved. If one or both do not, a hearing panel is convened.

At the discretion of OSC, a three-person specially trained panel will consider the case. Respondent and complainant (if complainant chooses to participate) participate in hearing.

Student asks OSC to proceed with investigation.

Student complainant is informed of disciplinary option through the university. Student may participate in the disciplinary process or decline to do so. In some cases, if enough information is available to investigate or initiate some intervention with an accused student, the university will proceed even if the student declines to participate, keeping the complainant’s request for confidentiality to extent possible. Campus environment evaluated when appropriate. OSC will discuss the matter with the student complainant (if he/she chooses to meet with OSC) before deciding what to do.

No later than five business days following the hearing, outcome will be conveyed individually to respondent and complainant at approximately the same time. Written notification will be made within 10 business days.

Both parties have right of appeal within grounds of appeal to Appellate Board.

Filing a Report Involving a Student or Group

Reports regarding student or group behavior may be filed with the Office of Student Conduct. Duke Police, the Office for Institutional Equity, academic deans, and offices within Student Affairs offer additional resources for students to address concerns. These offices work together in order to determine the most appropriate venue for resolution. In any situation where a party is unsure of whom to call, he/she may contact the Office of Student Conduct.

Any alleged violation of university policy, including academic dishonesty, is within the scope of the Office of Student Conduct. If the Office of Student Conduct determines that another office is more appropriate to handle the situation, the case may be referred to that office. (Violations that occur within residential areas will often be referred to Housing, Dining, and Residence Life [HDRL].)

The Office of Student Conduct coordinates a mediation program, which may be accessed upon referral or at the request of a student to resolve disputes between students.

In general, residence life staff will handle complaints of conduct within residential areas unless the alleged behavior is of a serious nature or the student has had prior violations, in which case the case may be referred for disciplinary action through the Office of Student Conduct: 919-684-6938; studentaffairs.duke.edu/conduct.

Types of Resolution

Mediation

Mediation is a process that empowers students to resolve their own disputes. Through mediation, a neutral third party assists students in coming to a peaceful and agreeable solution. The university encourages informal mediation whenever practical or appropriate. Students interested in utilizing the mediation program to resolve a conflict should contact the Office of Student Conduct. Staff within the Office of Student Conduct may also refer cases to mediation as appropriate. Ultimately, all parties involved must agree to mediation. If one party does not agree to mediation, or if the mediation fails, the Office of Student Conduct may refer a case to arbitration and/or disciplinary resolution. Failure to comply with the results of mediation may be cause to commence the disciplinary process.

Arbitration

Arbitration is a process by which students are given an opportunity to present information about a dispute to a neutral third party who renders a decision. Arbitration may be used in roommate conflicts or other relationship conflicts where residential status or participation/access privileges are at issue and mediation is not appropriate. The Office of Student Conduct or HDRL may choose to send any case to arbitration. Arbitration will not result in a disciplinary record, but the arbitrator(s) may alter students’ living status, limit privileges or invoke restrictions on participants. Failure to comply with the results of arbitration may be cause to commence the disciplinary process.
Get involved! Here are a few ways you can be formally involved in promoting the Duke Community Standard.

The Undergraduate Conduct Board accepts applications early in the spring semester from students who will be juniors or seniors the following fall. Students complete an online questionnaire that asks about campus involvement and offers conduct case study scenarios. Current student UCB members blind-read the applications (i.e., they do not know whose application they are reading), and top candidates are requested to participate in a group interview. Students are notified of their selection near the end of the spring semester.

Disciplinary Advisors are students and staff trained in the undergraduate disciplinary process. They offer information about how the process works, advice on how to approach each stage of the process, and can support students in attendance at a formal Undergraduate Conduct Board hearing. Students of any undergraduate class year, including first-year students, may apply.

Informal Resolution

Generally, staff in Housing, Dining, and Residence Life will resolve misconduct in the residence halls. Informal resolutions may include residential warnings or probation, relocation, community service, restitution or educational initiatives. Students who are alleged to have committed serious infractions (e.g., drug or safety violations) or who repeatedly violate any residential and/or university policy will be subject to formal disciplinary action through the Office of Student Conduct. Staff within the Office of Student Conduct may also choose to utilize the informal resolution process to resolve minor issues of student behavior. Resolutions resulting from this process may include an educational assignment or community service. Failure to comply with the resolution may be cause to commence the disciplinary process. Records of informal resolution will be kept internally and will not be considered part of a student’s externally reportable disciplinary record, unless otherwise specifically stated.

Disciplinary Action

Any case involving an alleged violation of community standards, Greek organization policies, or university rules and regulations by an undergraduate student or group may be resolved through the undergraduate disciplinary system.

The Undergraduate Disciplinary System

The purpose of the undergraduate disciplinary system is to promote honesty, fairness, respect, and accountability within the university community and to provide a fair and effective mechanism for resolving cases in which an undergraduate student (or group) is alleged to have violated the standards or policies of the university.

All reports of inappropriate student behavior may be filed with or forwarded to the Office of Student Conduct. Staff within the Office of Student Conduct will determine the most appropriate means by which to handle a report. Resolution may include mediation, arbitration, informal resolution, or disciplinary action.

Organization

- The Office of Student Conduct is designated to oversee the disciplinary system for undergraduates; it also oversees and implements the procedures of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy for all students.
- Hearing officers are designated to resolve disciplinary matters through informal or formal disciplinary resolution.
- The Undergraduate Conduct Board (UCB) is designated to resolve formal disciplinary matters that involve complicated circumstances, serious infractions of university policy, and/or repeated misconduct. The UCB is comprised of students, faculty and staff. Consideration shall be given to the appointment of a board reflective of the population of the university community. Rising juniors and seniors are selected each spring semester to serve as student members. (Once selected, student members will serve for the remainder of their undergraduate careers, as long as they meet expectations.) Student co-chairs are elected by the board. Faculty members are appointed/approved by the Dean of Arts and Sciences or the Pratt School of Engineering. Staff members are appointed/approved by the Vice President for Student Affairs.
- The Appellate Board considers appeals of students/groups found responsible and sanctioned through a panel hearing, and/or complainants in harassment-related cases. The Vice Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Education or designee currently chairs the Appellate Board. Members of the Appellate Board include faculty, staff, and students from both Trinity College and the Pratt School of Engineering.
The Duke University Honor Council is a student-led organization focused on promoting the Duke Community Standard throughout campus. The Honor Council achieves this through outreach campaigns to familiarize students with the Standard as well as through discourse-focused events allowing students to discuss the Standard and its principles in the context of their own personal Duke experience. The Honor Council works closely with administration, the Kenan Institute of Ethics, and prominent student organizations to best create a campus community and culture that highlights values and ethics.

Applications for the Honor Council are available at the beginning of the academic year. Priority is given to freshmen and sophomores, however, all complete applications will be reviewed and passionate applicants will be noticed.

For additional information, contact 2015-16 Honor Council chair Laura Holton T’16 at laura.holton@duke.edu.
Investigation

Office of Student Conduct staff and/or designee(s) will gather information regarding the alleged incident in order to determine the appropriate means of resolution.

Investigations may include interviews, a review of related documents, requests for written statements from any person involved in the alleged incident, and review of material available electronically. Students and organizations are encouraged to be forthright and as specific as possible when offering information related to an investigation, but may choose the extent to which they share information.

Cases may be dropped for insufficient information, or referred for mediation, arbitration, informal resolution or disciplinary action. In order for a case to be referred for disciplinary action, there must be sufficient information to believe that a policy violation may have occurred and that the alleged individual/group may be responsible.

Referral for Disciplinary Action

If a case is referred for disciplinary action, the student/group will be notified of the incident in question and the policy violation(s) under consideration, and will be given an opportunity to respond. There are several means by which to resolve disciplinary situations. The Office of Student Conduct will determine which avenue is most appropriate to pursue.

Disciplinary hearings are not trials and are not constrained by the same rules of procedure and evidence typically used in a court of law. The university disciplinary system operates under a standard of fairness, which includes an opportunity for the student/group to be notified of the alleged incident and policy violations under consideration and an opportunity to be heard.

Resolution through a Disciplinary Hearing

Any case may be forwarded directly to a disciplinary hearing if there is sufficient information to believe that a policy violation may have occurred and that the alleged individual/group may be responsible. Most cases will be referred to administrative hearings. Cases that are serious in nature, involve complicated facts, and/or involve students/groups with previous disciplinary violations may be forwarded to the Undergraduate Conduct Board (UCB) for resolution. (See “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39 for adjudication of allegations of sexual misconduct.)

Individuals or groups who deny responsibility for serious offenses of university policy and who face possible suspension or expulsion/dissolution from the university have the right to request a hearing before a five-person panel of the UCB. Individuals or groups who accept responsibility for alleged violations of university policy, but are unable to agree on a proposed sanction, which may include suspension or expulsion/dissolution, have the right to request a hearing before a three-person panel of the UCB. (The conduct officer may, due to the circumstances of the case, elect to utilize a five-person panel.)

Resolution through Agreement

If a student/group accepts responsibility for (an) alleged violation(s), the conduct officer, or designee, may propose an appropriate sanction(s) based on the specifics of the case, precedent and university interests.

If the student/group accepts responsibility and agrees to the proposed sanction(s), the student/group waives his/her/its right to a hearing and/or appeal, the resolution becomes final, and the outcome is recorded on the student’s/group’s disciplinary record. If the student/group accepts responsibility, but is unable to agree on the proposed sanction(s), the case will be forwarded to a hearing to determine (an) appropriate sanction(s).

If the student/group denies responsibility, the case will be forwarded to a hearing to determine responsibility and (a) sanction(s) as appropriate.
Disciplinary Hearing Types

There are two types of hearings. Most cases are decided upon through an administrative hearing, which is a discussion between the student/group and a hearing officer. Cases that are serious in nature, involve complicated facts, and/or involve students/groups with previous disciplinary violations may be forwarded to the Undergraduate Conduct Board for resolution. Students who face a possible sanction of suspension or expulsion may request to have his/her case heard by a panel of the UCB. Groups who face possible dissolution may request a hearing by a panel of the UCB.

(See “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39 for adjudication of allegations of sexual misconduct.)

Administrative Hearings

An administrative hearing is a discussion between a student/group alleged to be in violation of university policy and a hearing officer. Students/groups will be notified (typically via e-mail) of the specific violations under consideration in advance of an administrative hearing. The hearing officer will review the report with the student or group and give the student/group an opportunity to respond. The hearing officer will determine whether the student/group is responsible for the alleged policy violation, and, if so, issue (an) appropriate sanction(s). Administrative hearings are conducted in private.

Upon proper notice, if a student/group fails to attend an administrative hearing, the hearing officer may proceed to resolve the case without benefit of that student’s/group’s input.

All decisions of responsibility are based on clear and convincing information, except for allegations arising under the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, which are decided based on the standard of preponderance of evidence. In determining appropriate sanctions, consideration may be given to the nature of and circumstances surrounding the violation, the student’s/group’s acceptance of responsibility, prior disciplinary violations, the impact of a sanction on the student/group, precedent cases, university interests and any other information deemed relevant by a hearing panel/officer.

I have received an e-mail from the Office of Student Conduct that says I have been scheduled for an administrative hearing. What does that mean?

An administrative hearing is a conversation between you and a staff member to discuss your alleged involvement in reported behavior. The staff member is interested in hearing your perspective on what may have happened and will discuss with you how the matter might be resolved. The conversation may also focus on what you have learned or can take away from the incident.

Upon receiving the e-mail, review its contents carefully and ensure you are available at the time indicated in the message. If not, call the Office of Student Conduct at 919-684-6938 to schedule a new appointment. Next, familiarize yourself with the policies that may be at issue, which are also listed in your letter. You can find a complete list of policies beginning on page 15.

During an administrative hearing, listen carefully, share your perspective on the matter, and ask questions. Most often, the staff member is able to resolve the matter with you directly.

Following the administrative hearing, you will receive another e-mail describing the decision made by the staff member, sanctions (if appropriate), and details for having the matter reconsidered, if you wish.
If a student/group does not accept the administrative hearing resolution, he/she/it may request by the stated deadline a hearing before a panel of the Undergraduate Conduct Board.

Undergraduate Conduct Board Hearings

The Undergraduate Conduct Board is a group of students, faculty and staff appointed to hear alleged infractions of university policy. The board is charged with determining whether a student’s/group’s actions constitute a violation of university policy and, if so, an appropriate response. In determining an appropriate response, consideration is given to the student’s/group’s interests as well as the university’s interest in maintaining high standards.

All UCB hearings are conducted in private. Any student whose presence is required by the conduct officer at a hearing will be excused from any other university responsibility.

Respondents, complainant, advisors, and/or witnesses may not bring devices that capture or facilitate communication (e.g., computer, cell phone, audio/video recorder, etc.) into a hearing room.

Accused Students/Groups. Accused students/groups are entitled to the following procedural rights when facing a hearing before the Undergraduate Conduct Board:

- to be informed that he/she/it is under investigation;
- to seek advice from anyone;
- to seek advice from a trained advisor made available by the university;
- to be given an opportunity to respond to allegations;
- to choose the extent to which he/she/it shares information;
- to be notified of a hearing at least 120 hours (five days) in advance (notification will include the time, date and location of the hearing as well as names of hearing panel members and witnesses);
- to challenge any panel member if there is a significant conflict of interest;
- to know of and review in advance written information and allegations presented to the hearing panel;
- to be accompanied by an advisor to the hearing (who must be a member of the university community [defined below], except in cases arising under the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, in which case a student can select any advisor of his/her choice);
- to have up to two written character statements submitted on his/her/its behalf that may not specifically address the issue at hand;
- to a fair and impartial hearing;
- to rebut any witness testimony presented against him/her/it;
- to present additional witnesses or information at the hearing (the relevancy of which may be determined by the Board);
- to be found responsible only if the evidence meets a clear and convincing burden of proof (or preponderance of evidence standard in cases arising under the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy); and
- to appeal based upon clearly stated grounds.

What does it mean when I am asked to enter a plea at a hearing of the Undergraduate Conduct Board?

A plea is your opportunity to formally state your acceptance or denial of responsibility for the alleged policy violation(s). You will be asked to enter a separate plea for each allegation. Your options are:

“Responsible,” which means that you accept responsibility for the policy violation. The panel will consider whether to affirm your plea.

“Not responsible,” which means that you do not accept responsibility for the policy violation. The panel will consider whether or not you are responsible.

“Responsible in part,” which means that you accept responsibility for the policy violation, but you feel that there are additional factors for the panel to consider that mitigate full accountability for the violation. The panel will consider whether or not you are responsible. Note: You should not plead “responsible in part” if you truly do not feel you are responsible for the alleged policy violation.

Advisors. Accused students/groups are encouraged to seek advice and support from whomever they choose throughout the disciplinary process. An advisor may accompany an accused student/group or a student complainant to a UCB hearing. The advisor may be from the designated list of trained student and staff advisors available through the Office of Student Conduct, or may be any member of the university community. A member of the university community is defined as a current student, or a faculty or staff member currently employed by the university. For Greek organizations, the advisor may also be the chapter advisor. The advisor may not be a member of the UCB and may not serve as a material or expert witness. The role of the advisor is to assist and support the student through the disciplinary process. The advisor’s role in a hearing is limited to quietly conferring with the respondent through written correspondence or whisper, and the advisor may not address any other participant or the hearing panel.

An advisor may also accompany a complainant to a hearing in a case arising from the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy. See “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39 for additional information.

In a single hearing with multiple respondents and/or complainants, an advisor may attend the hearing with only one party (i.e., a unique advisor for each participant). The trained student and staff disciplinary advisors are valuable resources, thoroughly familiar with the conduct process. In the event that a recommended advisor is unavailable, an accused student/group may ask for the names of additional advisors from the Office of Student Conduct.

Hearing Panels. Hearing panels charged with determining an outcome and a sanction shall consist of three students and two members of the faculty or staff selected from the UCB. Hearing panels charged with determining only a sanction shall consist of two students and one faculty or staff member selected from the UCB. (In some circumstances, the conduct officer may choose to utilize a five-person panel consisting of three students and two faculty or staff members to determine a sanction.)

(See “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” on page 39 for hearing panel composition of these cases.)

An accused student/group may agree to a smaller panel or different student-to-faculty/staff ratio in the event that a full panel is not available. The accused student/group also may challenge any panel member if there is a significant conflict of interest. Such a challenge must be made at least 24 hours prior to the hearing and will be granted only for sufficient cause.

At times of the year when regular panels are not available (i.e., during the summer or semester breaks), the conduct officer may appoint a special hearing panel, which may include members of the university community who are not part of the Undergraduate Conduct Board or may have a different composition of students and faculty/staff than panels held during the normal academic year.

Notice. An accused student/group will be notified of a UCB hearing at least 120 hours (five days) in advance. The notice will include the date and time of the hearing, the specific charges at issue, and the names of the panel members. At times of the year when 120 hours of notice is not practical due to a student’s pending graduation, study abroad, or participation in a university-sponsored activity (e.g., DukeEngage), a student must either waive this right or not participate in the pending activity until the matter is resolved.
An accused student will also receive in advance of the hearing a copy of written information given to the hearing panel. The conduct officer may include information clarifying or noting any additional information gathered through the investigation without expressing any personal opinion about the merits of the case. In cases not involving an alleged violation of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, any additional material not included in a hearing packet that a complainant or respondent wishes to have reviewed by the hearing panel must be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct no later than 72 hours before the hearing. If deemed relevant by the Office of Student Conduct, that material will be shared with the complainant/respondent and the hearing panel.

The complainant will be notified of the hearing if his/her presence is required. At his/her request, the complainant may also receive a copy of the written information given to the hearing panel.

Upon proper notice, if the student/group fails to attend the hearing, the hearing panel may proceed in his/her/its absence.

Witnesses. The conduct officer may request the presence of any witness with pertinent information about a case. If a witness is unidentified or unavailable to attend the hearing, his/her statement may not constitute a sole or substantial basis for determining responsibility. If he/she is necessary and unidentified or unavailable, the conduct officer or the chair of the hearing panel may suspend or dismiss the proceedings.

The accused student/group and complainant may bring relevant material witnesses to speak on his/her/its behalf. Absent exceptional circumstances, the accused student/group and/or complainant should inform the conduct officer in writing at least 48 hours in advance of the hearing the names of the witnesses and to what they will attest. The panel may determine the extent to which witnesses will be permitted in the hearing, including relevancy of questioning and information presented.

Two written character references may be submitted to a hearing panel before a hearing begins. Character references may only address the character of the accused and may not address the specific issue at hand. An accused student/group also may request the attendance of any person who has submitted a written statement against him/her/it.

Procedure. The general course of procedure for a UCB hearing is as follows: introductions; plea(s) from the accused; opening comments from complainant(s) (if applicable); opening comments from accused; questions; testimony/questions of other material witnesses (if applicable); closing comments from complainant (if applicable); closing comments from accused.

What is “clear and convincing information?”

Two phrases that help define “clear and convincing” are “reasonably certain” and “highly probable.” It is information that produces a firm belief that the allegations of misconduct are true. It is a standard of evidence between the standards called “preponderance of evidence” and “beyond a reasonable doubt.” Clear and convincing information requires proof sufficient to convince ordinarily prudent-minded people that an allegation of misconduct is true. The proof need not be fully conclusive, but should cause one to be convinced that the allegations are true.

- Adapted from the Indiana University Judicial Officer Manual, 2002-2003

What is “preponderance of evidence?”

A preponderance of evidence means that it is more likely than not that an allegation of misconduct occurred.
The panel may impose time limits on any stage of the procedure. The panel may also determine the relevance of any witness or information to be presented and/or considered by the Board.

Information to be Considered by the Panel. The panel may consider any information it deems relevant, including documentation and expressions of opinion. If the panel needs additional information during a hearing, such as verification of a fact at issue, an expert opinion, etc., the panel may request such information and may suspend its decision until such information is obtained. The accused student/group will have the right to respond to any additional information that is to be used in considering an outcome.

Outcome. Based on clear and convincing information (or preponderance of evidence in cases arising from the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy) considered during the hearing, the panel may find a student/group responsible for an alleged violation by majority vote. (In cases arising from the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, a finding of responsibility for a violation must be unanimous.) The panel, also by majority vote, may dismiss any charge.

Upon finding a student/group responsible for a violation of university policy, the panel may determine and impose (an) appropriate sanction(s). Consideration may be given to the nature of and circumstances surrounding the violation, the student’s/group’s acceptance of responsibility, prior disciplinary violations, the impact of a sanction on the student/group, precedent cases, university interests and any other information deemed relevant by the hearing panel. All sanctions must be decided by majority vote with the exception of suspension or expulsion of an individual or dissolution of a group. These sanctions must be supported unanimously by a three-person panel or by four members of a five-person panel.

Notification and Record of the Hearing Outcome. The panel chair and/or the conduct officer will notify the accused student/group of the outcome of the hearing. A written hearing report describing the outcome, with a brief explanation of the reasoning, will be given to the accused student/group.

The complainant will be informed of the outcome of a hearing in accordance with federal guidelines. Complainants in cases arising from the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy will receive a written report of the hearing outcome.

An audio recording of each hearing will be made by the conduct officer and kept on file for three years. Reasonable care will be taken to create a quality recording and minimize technical problems; however, technical problems that result in no recording or an inaudible one will not be a valid argument for appeal.
Sanctions

Any disciplinary hearing may result in penalties (singly or in combination), including, but not limited to, those from the following list. In determining appropriate sanctions, consideration may be given to the nature of and circumstances surrounding the violation, the student’s/group’s acceptance of responsibility, prior disciplinary violations, the impact of a sanction on the student/group, precedent cases, university interests and any other information deemed relevant by a hearing panel/officer.

For cases resolved through the Undergraduate Conduct Board, all sanctions are decided by majority vote with the exception of a suspension or expulsion of an individual or dissolution of a group. These sanctions must be supported unanimously by a three-person panel or by four members of a five-person panel.

Expulsion

Dismissal and permanent removal from the university without possibility of readmission or reinstatement. A permanent notation to that effect is made on the student’s permanent academic record.

Degree Revocation

A student’s degree may be revoked. In such a case, a permanent notation to that effect is made on the student’s permanent academic record.

Suspension

A suspension is an involuntary dismissal from the university for a specified period of time, which may include the current semester and such additional semesters as deemed appropriate by the hearing panel. (Exclusion from campus will be considered in cases resulting in a suspension.)

Readmission as an undergraduate student in good standing is coordinated through the Office of Student Returns and is contingent upon satisfaction of any requirements stated in the original sanction. Upon a student’s readmission to and matriculation in the university, the student is placed on disciplinary probation for at least one semester or for as long as a hearing panel/conduct officer determines is appropriate. Readmission for graduate/professional students is coordinated through their respective dean.

As suspension constitutes an involuntary withdrawal from the university, a permanent notation to that effect is made on the student’s permanent academic record.

A student who is suspended after having satisfied all degree requirements must apply for readmission in accordance with normal procedures. If readmitted, the student’s degree will be awarded at the regular conferral date for the final semester of the suspension period. The student may not participate in commencement exercises until readmitted.

In the event that a disciplinary suspension and an academic withdrawal occur simultaneously, the two withdrawals are to be in effect consecutively.

Students suspended twice as a consequence of having been found responsible for academic misconduct are eligible to apply for readmission no sooner than five years after the date of the second withdrawal.

Dissolution (Group)

The privilege of a group to be recognized at Duke University also may be suspended or revoked (dissolution).

Suspension of Activity (Group)

Residential or cohesive units may be suspended for a specified time period from activities sponsored, cosponsored, performed by, or attended by its members on and/or off campus. A suspension is generally followed by disciplinary probation for a specified period of time.

I was found responsible through the formal disciplinary process for violating Duke policy. How will I get into graduate school or obtain a job?

It is important for students to be forthright about their disciplinary record when applying to programs or seeking employment in which a background check is conducted. Often, a student’s disciplinary record will have minimal impact on that student’s viability for acceptance, unless there is a pattern of misconduct or an egregious incident that reflects extremely poor judgment. Students who lie about their record or who cannot evince what they have learned from it will find it substantially more difficult to overcome that record. Many Duke students who have been found responsible for misconduct have gone on to law/medical school because they proved their willingness to learn from their mistake and move on.

Disciplinary Probation

A status imposed on a student for a specific period of time during which another violation of university policy or violation of any of the conditions of the probation shall result in an augmented disciplinary action, including the possibility of suspension. Disciplinary probation restricts a student’s ability to study away from Duke through the Global Education Office for Undergraduates, participate in DukeEngage, and be released early from the three-year residency requirement. It also may impact other opportunities in which a student’s disciplinary record is considered a criterion for participation.
Disciplinary Probation (Group)

A status imposed on a group for a specific period of time during which another violation of university policy or violation of any of the conditions of the probation shall result in an augmented disciplinary action, including the possibility of suspension of activity and/or dissolution.

Formal Warning

A formal written reprimand for violation of the specified policy(ies).

Admonition

A written notice indicating violation of the specified policy(ies). The resolution of this case will not become part of the student’s/group’s external disciplinary record (i.e., it will be treated as an informal resolution) unless there is a subsequent university policy violation.

Withdrawal of Privileges

This may include, but is not limited to, withdrawal of the privilege to have a car on campus, park on campus, attend or participate in university programs or activities (such as sporting events, intramurals, performances, graduation exercises, host/sponsor events, etc.), or maintain computer account privileges.

Housing License Restrictions/Revocation

A student’s/group’s privilege to live on campus may be restricted or revoked. This may include relocation, revocation for a period of time or permanent removal from the residential community. (Refunds for revocation may be denied based on HDRL policies.)

Exclusion

A student or group may be excluded from access to or use of specified university-owned premises and/or facilities.

No Contact Order

A student or group may be prohibited from communicating with a named individual.

Restitution

Payment for all or a portion of injury or damages to person(s) or property caused by an individual or a group.

Fine

Payment to Duke University of a reasonable sum of money by an individual or group.

Community Service

Specified length of time during which a student or group will perform in a service capacity at the university or in the Durham community beyond any volunteering with which he/she/it may already be involved. Before starting service, it must be pre-approved by a conduct officer. Failure to complete community service within the specified period, and present verification, may result in additional hours assigned or further disciplinary action.

Mental Health/Medical Assessment and/or Treatment

A hearing panel/officer may recommend or require a student to seek a mental health/medical assessment from CAPS, Student Health, or other appropriate professional. The hearing panel/officer will not be privy to the contents of that assessment without the permission of the student but may require verification that the assessment was completed and that the student followed through with recommendations of the professional.
Educational Projects/Initiatives

Students or groups may be required to complete a project or a written assignment, attend an educational program, or seek assistance from the Academic Skills Instructional Program, the university Writing Studio, DukeReach, or other university resources.

Appeals

A student found responsible through a hearing panel (or a complainant in a case involving harassment) may submit a written appeal of the hearing panel’s decision. Appeals are limited to 1500 words based on one or more of the following: 1) new information not reasonably available before the hearing that could significantly affect the finding (defined as the hearing panel’s decision of “responsible” or “not responsible”) and/or sanction(s); 2) procedural errors within the investigation or hearing process which may have significantly affected the finding (as defined above); and/or 3) the finding (as defined above) has no plausible basis in the record before the hearing panel. An appeal is not a re-hearing of the case.

An appeal statement must be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct within five business days of written notification of the hearing panel’s decision. The appeal statement must identify the ground(s) for appeal. (In cases of suspension or expulsion for individuals and dissolution for groups, the accused may make a written request in the appeal to meet with the panel of the Appellate Board. When granted, the student or group president will meet alone with the appellate panel. A complainant or respondent in a case arising from the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy may bring an advisor with him/her to a meeting with the appellate panel.)

A panel of the Appellate Board will consider the appeal. The Appellate Board’s role is limited to reviewing the hearing panel record and the information presented in (and any response by a complainant in harassment-related cases to) the appeal with one exception: If the appeal raises procedural errors, the appellate panel may, if necessary to resolve the appeal, interview (a) staff member(s) in the Office of Student Conduct to gather more information about the alleged procedural error. The appellate panel will invite the appellant (and other party—either complainant or respondent—in harassment-related cases) to participate in the interview with the staff member and the Appellate Board. The appellant (and other party as appropriate) may respond once the interview with the staff member is complete.

After its review, the appellate panel will resolve a case; or, if more information is needed from (an) additional witness(es), it will remand the case to the original hearing panel with instructions to call the witness(es) and to reconsider its decision in light of that additional testimony. (If the case is remanded to the Office for Student Conduct for additional consideration by the original hearing panel, the subsequent decision of the hearing panel may be appealed under the same conditions and time frame as above; however, the new appeal will be limited to the issue[s] considered in response to the original appeal.) To overturn the hearing panel’s decision, a majority of Appellate Board panelists must support changing the decision of the hearing panel.
The Appellate Board will generally decide an appeal within 15 business days from when the appeal was received; if the decision will take longer, the Appellate Board will let the party(ies) know. The Appellate Board will provide written notification of the final decision to the appellant (and other party, if applicable, at approximately the same time).

Disciplinary Records/Student Status

When students/groups are found responsible for a violation of university policy through an administrative or panel hearing, or accept responsibility through an agreement, the case will be recorded on a student’s/group’s disciplinary record. (See “Admonition” on page 66 under “Sanctions” for recording of these resolutions.) The record will be maintained by the Office of Student Conduct and kept in accordance with FERPA. Individual disciplinary records are kept on file for eight years from the date of a student’s matriculation (or four years after graduation, whichever lapses first), except in cases resulting in suspension or expulsion, in which disciplinary records are kept indefinitely.

Status of a Student/Group Pending Final Resolution of a Disciplinary Case

Until a final resolution is determined, the status of a student/group will not change unless administrative actions have been imposed to protect the health and safety of the student/group or the university community. A student with disciplinary action pending, however, is not eligible to graduate and may not participate in commencement exercises until his/her case is resolved. A student currently on leave, suspended, or withdrawn from Duke who has a pending disciplinary matter is not eligible to seek readmission until that matter is resolved.

Disciplinary Hold

At any time after the filing of a complaint, the conduct officer or designee, after consulting with a student’s academic dean, may place a disciplinary hold on the academic and/or financial records of any student pending the outcome of proceedings or to enforce a disciplinary sanction. A disciplinary hold may prevent, among other things, registration, enrollment, matriculation, the release of transcripts, and the awarding of a degree.

Disciplinary Action While Civil/Criminal Charges Pending

Students may be accountable to both civil authorities and to the university for acts that violate local, state or federal laws. (Students are encouraged to seek advice of legal counsel when they face criminal charges.) Disciplinary action through university processes concurrent with criminal action does not subject a student to “double jeopardy.”

The university operates under different policies, procedures and standards and thus, will not be bound by the findings of a court of law. If the court’s outcome satisfies the university’s interests, such outcome may be recorded on the student’s disciplinary record without invoking the university disciplinary process. Should any criminal proceeding result in a felony conviction, as a result of an incident on or off campus, the Vice President for Student Affairs reserves the right to summarily dismiss a student.

University disciplinary action will normally proceed during the pendency of a criminal or civil action. A student may request, however, that the university disciplinary process be placed on hold until criminal actions are resolved. The conduct officer or designee will decide whether this request will be granted. In such a case, administrative actions may be imposed. The university reserves the right to proceed with the disciplinary process at any point.
Duke University has long been committed to an active and meaningful residential life experience for its undergraduate students. With most undergraduates living on campus, Duke fully understands the residential experience is an integral part of its students’ education. Currently, three separate campuses create the residential experience at Duke University.

East Campus: First-Year Student Residence Halls

First-year students reside in 14 co-ed houses located on East Campus. Initiated in fall of 1995, the first-year campus has proven to be a wonderful launching point for the Duke undergraduate experience by strengthening class unity and focusing resources geared toward supporting common first-year challenges. Housing assignments are made by random lottery to one East house and students are allowed to submit a roommate request if desired.

West and Central Campuses: Upperclass Houses

Beginning in fall of 2012, Duke University returned to houses as the community base for all upperclass students. When students leave East Campus, they will join or be assigned to one of 80 houses on West (residence hall-style) or Central (apartment-style) Campus. House communities include both selective and non-selective options, but all houses will have their own unique traditions, identity, and personality with funds and leadership to support its endeavors.

On-Campus Residency Requirement

All students are required—to the extent that housing is available—to live on campus for their first three years. We will continue to apply semesters spent in “study away” programs toward the three-year residency requirement. Students are guaranteed the opportunity to live on campus during their fourth year. (See note below.)

Students may choose to live off campus at the completion of their third year. Students who wish to live off campus must notify Housing, Dining, and Residence Life (HDRL) in writing of their plans by the published deadlines. Students choosing to live off campus should be aware that they will be subject to all city ordinances, particularly those related to occupancy, noise, parking, and litter.

Note: Our long-term goal is to provide on-campus housing for all students during their first three years and for any senior who wishes to remain on campus. However, new construction and renovations may result in a temporary shortfall in housing availability. In some cases we may modify the three-year residency requirement, resulting in some juniors as well as some seniors living off campus. In addition, during the new construction and renovation process the university may temporarily suspend the four-year housing guarantee for seniors. We look forward ultimately to providing housing to any seniors who wish to remain on campus.
The Housing License

Prior to occupancy of space in a university residence hall or apartment, each student must sign a Housing License and have it accepted by and on file with HDRL. The purpose of the terms of the Housing License is to establish certain understandings among students who reside in Duke University’s residential areas, and between these students and the university, with regard to use of residential facilities. The terms are an integral part of the license and are enforceable as a covenants and conditions license. Any violation of the terms, especially the terms affecting rights, order, health, and safety, may lead to the revocation of this license and/or other disciplinary action.

Eligibility

On-campus rooms/apartments are available for assignment to full-time Duke University students who are working towards a degree. Residential facilities are available to undergraduate students who have been in continuous residence since their matriculation as first-year students as well as to students returning from leaves of absence or off campus, with appropriate notice to HDRL.

While every undergraduate who matriculates as a first-year student is guaranteed four years of university housing provided full-time student status is maintained, a student may live in university housing for no more than eight semesters. Students who enroll in graduate or professional programs prior to receiving the undergraduate degree (such as “three/two” programs) are not eligible for undergraduate housing during their fifth year.

Release/Termination

An undergraduate student who is seeking release from a Housing License must notify HDRL in writing.

Students who withdraw from school, take a leave of absence, or otherwise terminate their housing license must vacate the room and return their room/apartment key within forty-eight (48) hours from the date of such withdrawal, leave, or move, or by the official move-out date at the end of the semester, whichever comes first.

Revocation of the Housing License

Residence hall occupancy should be understood as a privilege maintained under certain standards. This includes abiding by the terms of the Housing License, university and HDRL policies, as well as upholding general standards of honesty, trustworthiness, fairness, and respect for others.

Terms of the Housing License are designed to protect the health and safety of students and to provide for the comfort and privacy of students who have been assigned university housing. Any conduct that reflects a serious disregard for the rights, health, safety, and/or security of other occupants of university housing may be reason for revocation of this license and/or disciplinary action. Such conduct includes, but is not limited to, creating conditions that jeopardize the safety and well-being of others, tampering with fire and security equipment, use/possession of firearms, weapons and/or explosives (including fireworks), damage to a residential facility, or conduct which is detrimental to the residential community. In addition to violators of specific Housing License terms, a student who has been a repeated violator of housing terms and/or university/housing regulations or who has shown blatant disregard for others is subject to eviction and Housing License revocation.

Generally, violations of the Housing License or university/housing policy will be handled through residence life staff and/or the university’s disciplinary process. However, in extreme instances, the Associate Vice President of Student Affairs for HDRL or the Dean of Students (or their respective designees) may administratively revoke or suspend a student’s Housing License upon a determination that the continued residence of the student is detrimental to the residential community. Appeals from administrative revocations/suspensions may be made to the Vice President for Student Affairs (or respective designee).

Privacy of Student Rooms and Apartments

Students who reside in university residences have a reasonable expectation for privacy of their rooms and apartments and freedom from admission into or search of their rooms or apartments by any unauthorized persons; however, the university is obligated to maintain reasonable awareness of its residential areas to promote an environment consistent with the aims of an academic community. To foster these conditions the following regulations are in effect:

- The university unconditionally retains the right to enter the premises without the resident being present to carry out maintenance tasks, to conduct inspections regarding availability of space, and to respond to emergency situations or any equipment failure which is causing damage or hazard to property or persons.

- Maintenance personnel may enter assigned rooms or apartments at reasonable hours for the purpose of carrying out their assigned tasks and functions. HDRL personnel will attempt to inspect the maintenance work done within twelve (12) working days to validate satisfactory completion of such work. Prior notice, when feasible, shall be posted on the residence hall bulletin board stating what dates rooms will be entered.

- Sanitary or safety inspections may be conducted by government officials without notice in accordance with the General Statutes of North Carolina and city and county ordinances.

- University officials will conduct inspection of rooms when the residence halls are officially closed during winter recess to ensure that no fire or other hazards exist. Hazardous items will be removed and the student(s) involved will be notified when the buildings are officially opened. If deemed necessary, room inspections may also be conducted during fall and/or spring breaks.

- Personnel entering residential space may report on the condition of university facilities and equipment, on violations of the Housing License or other university regulations, or on situations that jeopardize the overall health and safety of the residential community. After entering, all personnel shall leave written notice stating the purpose for entering. Upon receipt of this notice the occupant(s) may contact the East, West, or Central Campus HDRL offices to discuss the entry. Written notices will advise the occupant(s) that subsequent investigation or repair may henceforth occur at any time during the normal HDRL or maintenance personnel workweek.

- Reports made as a result of inspections related to physical facilities and/or furnishings will be handled by HDRL.

- No person, with the exception of those listed in the section above, shall enter assigned rooms or apartments except under the following conditions:
  - Consent of the occupant(s);
  - Presentation of a properly drawn legal search warrant;
  - Authorization from HDRL specifying the reasons for an administrative entry, the objects sought, and the area to be searched (authorization must be in writing unless the need to search is imminent and the writing would delay the search such that the reasons supporting a search may be jeopardized);
  - Emergency situations or immediate threat to preservation of the building and the safety of occupant(s) of the room/apartment and/or the residential population; or
• University officials who have reasonable suspicion that criminal activity is occurring behind closed doors and no response is rendered by occupants (e.g., illegal use of drugs).

• With proper authority to enter a residential space, action may be taken in response to items found in “plain view” or items reasonably discovered while conducting a search.

Residential Policies and Community Expectations

All residential students are bound by the terms of the Housing License, residential policies articulated on the HDRL website (studentaffairs.duke.edu/hdrl/community-standards-expectations), and university regulations contained in this guide.

Through residential policies and procedures, Duke University seeks to foster a climate of responsibility, initiative, and creativity on the part of individuals and living groups. A successful residential community is one in which students take pride in their physical surroundings and assume active responsibility for the maintenance of acceptable standards of behavior in their living areas. Both individuals and living groups may be held accountable for the actions of individual members and their guests. Residents are also responsible for damages caused by their neglect or intentional actions.

While students are entitled to a general expectation of privacy within the confines of their own individual rooms (although extraordinary and compelling circumstances may occasionally require that this expectation be institutionally suspended), the university will not regard either students’ immediate living quarters or their commons areas as privileged sanctuaries where students may act with impunity or without regard to standards of honesty, trustworthiness, fairness, and respect for other members of the university community. Moreover, occupancy of an individual room or of a residence hall does not confer any proprietary interest or right of ownership on the part of an individual student or living group. The student and the living group are both properly viewed not as owners but as custodians of the living space that has been assigned to them. Inherent in this custodial relationship is the right of the university to promulgate criteria governing the circumstances under which this relationship may be entered into, may be maintained in good standing, or may be terminated.

For a complete review of HDRL and information and policies, please visit the website studentaffairs.duke.edu/hdrl. HDRL reserves the right to update and revise policies as necessary, and will communicate changes to the residential community as needed.

Air Conditioning

Only HDRL air conditioners are allowed in student rooms. Students may not install personally owned air-conditioning units in their room.

Alterations, Additions, and Painting

Residents are not allowed to make alterations or additions to or within the premises. This includes painting the room or apartment. Students will be charged for repairs needed to return rooms to an HDRL-approved color and condition after move-out.
Bathroom Access

All residence hall bathrooms are secured with key-access to residents. Bathrooms may be unlocked based on a voting process, which is administered by HDRL. If a community votes to have its bathroom unlocked, it may be billed for any damages that occur in the bathroom area.

Benches

Approval. The specific design, including sketches noting dimensions, must be submitted in writing to the residence coordinator of that quad or house at least two (2) weeks prior to the desired construction date. Approval for a bench must be received from the residence coordinator prior to construction.

Design. The maximum dimensions of the bench include: 8’ in length, 5’ in height from the ground, and 6’ in depth. A preapproved bench plan is available upon request. Note: Due to potential health hazards and adverse impact to the environment associated with burning pressure treated or chemically treated wood, benches must be constructed using untreated wood. Untreated wood that is properly sealed and painted will last for quite some time if it is not buried in the ground and is exposed only to the weather.

Placement. Only residential houses (SLG and non-SLG) may place benches on university property, unless an exception is granted by HDRL and the university architect. Benches will be permitted only in areas designated by HDRL. Students should contact the appropriate RC to learn where their house bench can be placed.

Relocation. House benches may have to be moved temporarily (e.g., for special events or summer programming). Every effort will be made to retain the integrity of the bench if it is necessary to move it; however, the university will not be responsible for repairing benches as a result of a move. Otherwise, removal of benches from their designated locations is not permitted. Such action only serves to lessen their structural integrity and places the health and safety of those moving these heavy objects in serious jeopardy. Additionally, benches placed in unauthorized areas disrupt the normal use of public areas and unreasonably divert university employees from their assigned duties for the retrieval or removal of these structures.

Expectations. House benches are intended to serve as locations for relaxed social interaction. House residents are expected to maintain them in good order, routinely making certain that damaged wood is replaced and fresh paint is applied as needed, including to cover acts of vandalism.

Individual residents, and potentially their living groups as well, may be subject to disciplinary action if they are identified as being responsible for moving benches. Each group has an obligation to deter its members and residents from tampering with the property of other groups, for a living group can be held accountable for the action of its individual members. Disciplinary measures taken against students identified as participating in the relocation/damaging of house benches may include, but are not limited to, having their housing licenses placed in imminent jeopardy of revocation, being placed on disciplinary probation, and being assessed repair/replacement costs should a bench be damaged. A living group found responsible as a cohesive unit may have its bench dismantled, and denial of the privilege to build a new bench may extend for a period of time not to exceed one calendar year. Should a living group be found responsible for the damage or destruction of another living group’s property, the offending groups should anticipate loss of its bench and responsibility for the requisite replacement of the property it damaged or destroyed, and possible loss of selective living group status.
Bicycles

Bicycles may be kept by the owner in her/his assigned room space. Hangers and other means of suspending bicycles may not be attached to any wall, ceiling or door. Bicycles are not permitted in other areas of the residence halls such as common rooms, bathrooms, hallways, stairwells (interior and exterior), study rooms, hall entrances/exits, archways that do not have bicycle racks, and porch areas. In compliance with Durham Fire Marshal regulations, bicycles found in unauthorized areas of the residence halls will be removed without warning and the owners will be required to pay a removal charge in order to recover them. The university is not responsible for damage to bicycles or devices used to secure them. Abandoned bicycles will be removed at the university’s discretion.

Cleaning

HDRL cleans each room/apartment prior to occupancy. Thereafter it is the responsibility of the resident(s) to clean the space. The residence is expected to be kept in a sanitary condition during the year, and in a clean condition upon vacating. If a room requires extraordinary cleaning during occupancy or upon checkout, the cost will be charged to the resident(s).

Common Areas

Each house has common areas for use by residents. These areas include commons rooms, hallways, stairwells, bathrooms, study rooms, and laundry rooms. It is the responsibility of each community to see that these areas are kept in good condition and that the furnishings are not damaged or removed. Items not belonging in common areas may be removed by HDRL without warning for safety reasons.

Commons furniture owned by HDRL may not be removed from its intended location. Anyone doing so may be subject to disciplinary action. Commons furniture found in bedrooms may be removed by university personnel at the expense of the occupant(s).

Common areas are intended primarily for use by the residents in the assigned area for studying and social activities. Sleeping overnight in the common rooms is prohibited.

Computer Labs

Students and staff with a valid DukeCard may access labs with an outside entrance. Only those with a valid DukeCard for a building may access a lab in that building.

Damage to Student Rooms

Use of nails, screws, hooks, tacks, decals, or adhesives which damage walls, ceilings, furniture, doors, windows, or fixtures is prohibited. Students may be billed for damage beyond normal wear and tear to buildings, building equipment (including plumbing), and furniture (including missing furniture). The assigned occupant(s) is/are responsible for reporting to HDRL defects or damages found in a room within two working days after occupancy. The resident(s) of a room will be charged for any damages or modifications found in the room after occupancy unless previously noted on the room condition report.

Decorations and Theme Parties

Please see "Appendix H — Theme Parties and Decorations" on page 94 for university and HDRL policies regarding fire safety and decorations.

Violations reported to the Office of Student Conduct or HDRL will be considered serious offenses and living group and cohesive unit officers will be held accountable.

If you have any questions as to whether your party decorations fall within the limits allowed by university safety policies, please contact OESO-Fire Safety at 919-684-5609 at least 72 hours prior to the date of the actual event or party.
Defenestration

Throwing or in any other way propelling objects or liquids from windows is prohibited. Screens must remain in place and secured at all times.

Furniture

Each residential space is equipped with furniture by HDRL. The resident(s) of a room/apartment will be charged for any damaged furniture and/or furniture missing from their space. University-owned furniture must remain in the student’s room. Personally owned furniture may be added to student rooms/apartments provided all residents of that room/apartment consent and the residents remove the furniture at the end of occupancy. Costs for removing any remaining personal furniture will be charged to the residents. Waterbeds are prohibited. Personally owned refrigerators are allowed but may not exceed six (6) cubic feet.

Grills

Residents may borrow barbecue grills on a short-term basis from the East, West, or Central Campus HDRL offices. North Carolina law prohibits the use of portable charcoal, gas or electric grills within 10 feet of all residence halls. In areas where pine straw or bark mulch has been applied to grounds, grills must be 10 feet away from the perimeter of these materials. Storage of charcoal lighter fluid or other flammables, including gas grills, in the residence halls is strictly prohibited. Failure to obey these regulations may result in a fine by the Durham Fire Marshal and or be subject to Duke disciplinary action.

Guests (Limits and Responsibility)

Students may have overnight guests for reasonable periods of time, typically not to exceed a 72-hour time period, contingent upon the advance approval of his/her roommate(s). However, continued use of a residence hall room or Central Campus Apartment by a person or persons other than those to whom the room or apartment is assigned is prohibited. Overnight guests may not be entertained during final examination periods.

HDRL reserves the right to require a guest to leave if university policies and/or residence hall policies are not obeyed or if complaints are received from members of the residential community. Violation of any of these policies may lead to nonresidents being charged with trespassing and residents (both guest and host) having their housing licenses revoked.

Students are responsible for the conduct of their guests. Any violation of HDRL/university rules and regulations by a guest, whether the host student is present or not, shall constitute a violation of the same by the hosting student.

Halogen Lamps

Halogen lamps use bulbs that emit a significant amount of heat and are considered fire hazards. These are prohibited in all residential spaces.

House Signs

Each house on West and Central may have one exterior house sign. The appropriate campus HDRL office must approve the design of the house sign. Dimensions of house signs are 4’ by 3’ or 3’ by 4’.
Keys - General

Keys are issued to students to provide access to their room, bathroom, and other areas to which they have authorized access. Use or possession of residence hall/apartment keys, including possession of master keys or keys other than those assigned to the student, is prohibited. Keys are not transferable; switching keys with other students is prohibited. Reproduction of keys is prohibited.

Locks may not be tampered with or changed by residents or their guests. For safety and security reasons, students should not carry their key on the same ring as their DukeCard.

Keys - Room

One bedroom door key is issued to each resident. Students are required to obtain their bedroom key. If you lose the key, you must obtain a new one from the appropriate HDRL campus office. Residents have one week to find the lost key. If the key is not found within one week and brought to the HDRL campus office for verification and return of the loaner key, the lock will be changed for your protection. A charge for the lock change will be placed on your Bursar account. Circumstances may require a shorter time period to produce the missing key, at the discretion of HDRL. Any key that you cannot present to the HDRL campus office will be considered lost, even if you dropped it down the drain or threw it away because it was broken. A new key will be issued in exchange for a damaged key at no charge if you return the damaged key to your HDRL campus office. Residents who do not return their key(s) when checking out of the residence halls will be charged for a lock change.

Kitchens

Residents are responsible for removal of perishable items from the refrigerator and for cleaning utensils, pots and pans. Kitchens that are abused or not kept in good order may be locked. Items abandoned in the kitchen will be disposed of by HDRL staff.

Lofts

Only lofts provided by HDRL may be used in the residence halls. Lofts are neither provided nor permitted on Central Campus.

Obstruction of Hallways, Stairwells, Sidewalks, and Lawns

North Carolina fire safety codes prohibit the obstruction of hallways and stairwells. The Durham Fire Marshal mandates the immediate removal of all items obstructing hallways and stairwells. HDRL will remove without warning or reimbursement furniture, bicycles, lumber, and all other items found obstructing hallways or stairwells. University furniture will be removed from hallways and stairwells and residents may be charged for missing furniture when they vacate the room. In addition, access to room windows as a secondary means of egress is required.

Sidewalks, stairways, and entryways must not be used for purposes other than ingress or egress. Bicycles may not be left in these areas or other locations where they may cause harm to persons or grounds keeping equipment. All vehicles, including motorcycles, must be parked in parking lots. Delivery trucks, automobiles, motorcycles, scooters, and minibikes are not permitted on lawns and walkways, patios, or stairwells. These vehicles must be parked in legal parking spaces.

Personal Property (Damage to)

Duke University is not liable for damage, theft, or loss of a resident’s personal belongings and does not carry insurance to cover such loss or damage. Personal property insurance is a wise investment for all residents. You may be covered under a policy carried by your parent(s) or guardian—have them contact their insurance agent to be sure.
Pets

Fish are allowed provided they are kept in an aquarium no larger than 25 gallons, the container is cleaned regularly, and no illegal species are kept. With the exception of seeing-eye dogs, no other animals are permitted in the residence halls or apartments. If it is reported that you have brought an animal into the residence halls, you will receive a letter requesting you remove the animal immediately and sign a statement that you have done so and will never again allow an animal to be brought into the residence halls. If you do not remove the animal and sign the statement, or if an animal is again reported to have been taken into the residence halls, you will be referred to HDRL or to the Office of Student Conduct for disciplinary action.

Each resident of a room is held equally responsible. If your roommate or a guest brings an animal into the residence halls and you do not report the violation, you will be subject to the above procedure. If an animal enters your room you will be charged for the pest control treatment, which is done to protect the future residents from fleas or other vermin. When you vacate your room you will be charged for cleaning (if needed) and damages. The charges resulting from animals can be very expensive.

Propping Doors Open

Propping open residence hall entrance and/or bathroom doors or in any way tampering with the security system of the residence hall violates hall security and is prohibited.

Room Condition Reports & Inspections

Room condition reports are provided to each resident during the check-in process. Updates to room condition reports must be submitted to your RA within two days of your occupancy. This document will protect you from charges for conditions which existed when you moved into your room. Carefully review the room condition report and amend it as necessary. If there are maintenance needs that need immediate attention please call your HDRL campus office as well as noting them on your room condition report. Immediately report a faulty or missing smoke detector to your HDRL campus office. When you move out, your room will be inspected. Any repairs or cleaning required by conditions beyond normal wear and tear which you did not list on your room condition report will be considered damages and charged to you. We strongly recommend you be present when your room is inspected at checkout. Please make an appointment with your hall RA team per established checkout procedures and instructions. An inspection cannot be done until you vacate the room and all personal belongings are removed and all keys are returned. Keep in mind there are peak periods when the hall RA team may not be able to schedule appointments, so sign-up as soon as you know your plans.

Trash Removal

Students are required to dispose of trash in designated containers. Trash may not be placed in bathrooms, kitchens, laundry rooms, commons rooms, courtyards, or in any other place.

TV - Common Areas

HDRL will provide internet-based TV content to each house common room along with a TV for the enjoyment of the house community. Connecting televisions in bedrooms to the common rooms TV network or otherwise tampering with TV equipment is prohibited.

Unauthorized Possession (Keys/Property)

Possession of keys or other property for which one does not have appropriate authorization or ownership is a violation of university policy.
Duke Houses

In the early spring of their first year, students make decisions about housing for the coming fall. All sophomores, juniors and seniors living on campus are members of a house – a home on campus they can identify with and where they can build networks of friends spanning different class years. Most houses consist of between 30 to 90 students, which is a good size to cultivate community and expand social horizons. Houses have funds to support programming and access to faculty engagement opportunities. Once in a Duke house, students usually have right-of-return to that same house in subsequent years, affording them stability in the housing process as well as the chance to forge lasting relationships that can develop from living with people they may not otherwise have encountered during their time at Duke.

Administrative Houses. Living and learning communities that are sponsored, resourced, and facilitated by an office often in conjunction with faculty partners. Students apply to join these communities and are selected by the sponsoring office.

- Wellness on West (substance free)
- Women’s Housing Option
- Smart Home

Independent Houses. Students who choose enter the housing lottery will be assigned to an independent house on West or Central Campus. Each independent house has a house council, which facilitates programming for members of their community.

Selective Living Groups: Expectations and Information

This section shares expectations and information for groups who have been given the privilege of space in our residential communities. For a complete account of the guidelines and polices for selective living groups, visit the HDRL website at studentaffairs.duke.edu/hdrl.

Accountability for Community Expectations

All living groups are responsible for maintaining standards established by Duke University. Selective living groups have a special obligation to take proactive measures to ensure that individual members conduct themselves in a mature, respectful manner. Being afforded the opportunity to select those persons who will live within a particular living group is a privilege, not a right.

In situations where the actions of group members negatively impact the Duke community, HDRL or the Office of Student Conduct may respond immediately, which could include administrative intervention, relocation of group members, and/or disciplinary action. Administrative decisions may be appealed to the Vice President for Student Affairs. Please refer to the policies and procedures under the undergraduate disciplinary system for information regarding disciplinary decisions.

It is important for living groups, as well as for any university-recognized cohesive units or guests, to understand that they can be held accountable for the actions of individual members and guests.

Groups found in violation of university policy may be subject to sanctions including, but not limited to, formal warning, disciplinary probation, social suspension, dissolution, restitution charges, community service hours, and/or a requirement to present educational programs.

Commons Room Space

Living groups at Duke University may be afforded the privilege of dedicated common space for social, educational, and recreational purposes. Given that many Duke-recognized organizations are in need of space in which members can come together to conduct business and celebrate accomplishments, living groups are encouraged to allow other university-recognized organizations to reserve its common space with the understanding that the group to which the space officially has been assigned bears ultimate responsibility for any damage to the facility by the user. No rental fees may be charged by a living group to another organization requesting use of the living group’s common space. A living group should be aware that any event host requesting the use of its common space is required to reserve the space in accordance with established guidelines published by HDRL and University Center Activities and Events. If the space is reserved, the event host accepts responsibility for any damage committed to the facility stemming from the host group’s event. If a living group has reservations concerning a specific request for the use of its common space, it may exercise its right to deny the request.

Damages and Cleaning – Care of Residence Hall and Adjacent Areas

All groups are responsible for damages and cleaning beyond the normal amount that should be required within their residential areas including the grounds adjacent to their residence halls. Behavior requiring extraordinary cleaning may be subject to disciplinary action and financial charges.

Every situation will be viewed on a case-by-case basis in order to allow HDRL and/or the Office of Student Conduct to use discretion in determining whether damages are minor or major, whether or not the individuals or groups are cooperative, whether there is a long/short time between incidents or a pattern to this behavior, and whether there are other factors (mitigating or aggravating) that should be taken into consideration.

Damages. Living groups will be billed for damage beyond normal wear and tear to buildings, building equipment (including plumbing), and furniture (including missing furniture) in their section. Living groups similarly will be responsible for damage to public areas, equipment, furnishings, buildings, sidewalks, shrubbery, and lawns that occur in connection to activities of the group. Specific living groups and/or individuals may be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for disciplinary action. If living groups are found responsible for damages, sanctions may include a requirement to make full restitution.

Excessive Cleaning. Immediately after any event groups are expected to pick up all trash and place it in appropriate containers, and thoroughly clean affected areas inside and around the residence hall. To avoid or minimize financial charges and disciplinary action for excessive cleaning, clean up should occur immediately after events so that housekeeping can remove the collected trash when they begin work at 7 a.m.

Inasmuch as housekeeping time spent on extraordinary clean-up is time spent away from the normal duties of keeping the buildings clean, groups will be charged accordingly. Extraordinary clean-up may be deferred until such time as normal housekeeping tasks are complete. Extra trash containers are available from Facilities Management by contacting 919-660-4283 at least two days prior to an event.

Individual vs. Group Responsibility

During a group event, the group will generally be responsible (disciplinarily and financially) for damages, cleaning, alcohol policy violations, etc. The group is required to assist in the investigation. An individual may take responsibility, which may absolve or reduce the responsibility of the group. If no one comes forward and no one is identified during the investigation, the group will be responsible.

Management of In-Section Room Assignments

Living groups are expected to maintain consistent and timely communication with HDRL concerning its housing assignments and any changes/updates. Visit the HDRL website for additional details: studentaffairs.duke.edu/hdrl.

Range of Penalties

HDRL or the Office of Student Conduct may take an immediate administrative action such as closing a commons room, canceling a party, removing privileges, etc.

A hearing officer or disciplinary hearing panel (through a conduct meeting with HDRL staff or an administrative/Undergraduate Conduct Board hearing with the Office of Student Conduct) can impose sanctions including, but not limited to formal warning, community service, requiring educational programming initiatives, probation, social suspension, relocation of members, and/or dissolution.
Student organizations contribute to the vibrant social life at Duke by hosting a variety of events on campus for the Duke and Durham communities. DSG-recognized student organizations and those affiliated with academic or administrative units may host events on campus. All student organizations at Duke University must update officer contact information annually through the University Center Activities and Events (UCAE) website at studentaffairs.duke.edu/ucae and complete officer training programs in order to maintain their status as official groups.

Event Policies

The following policies apply to events in campus facilities and on campus grounds hosted by student organizations. Student organizations may host events any time during the academic year, except during reading period, exams, and new student orientation, unless authorized by the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Vice Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Education, or their designee. The university reserves the right to withhold event hosting privileges if proper advance arrangements are not secured.

- Sponsoring groups or hosts are responsible for the general tone of their events (i.e., proper planning, trash removal, appropriate conduct, discouraging underage drinking, etc.), and they may choose to adopt regulations more limiting than the laws of the state and the provisions of this policy.

- Events with alcohol must:
  - Be designated as BYOB or distribution, but not both. A university-approved bartender must facilitate distribution. The area of distribution must be clearly defined and alcohol is not permitted outside of that area. Events with alcohol are subject to security coordinated by Duke Police and must follow the university alcohol policy (see “Alcohol” on page 19 in the “Undergraduate Policies” chapter).
  - Have one party monitor for every 25 expected guests (see “Expectations for Group-Sponsored Social Functions” on page 22 in the “Undergraduate Policies” chapter).
  - Outdoor events must follow the university noise policy (see “Noise” on page 34 in the “Undergraduate Policies” chapter).
  - Contracts and offer letters for performers, vendors, live entertainment, and/or other purchased services and/or contracts of any kind for events on or off campus must be executed by a university staff member no less than a minimum of 14 days prior to the event. Students may not sign contracts of any type on behalf of a student organization and/or the university. Any contract signed by any student will not be honored by the university and becomes the personal financial and legal responsibility of the student.

...that contracts of any type must be signed by a university staff member at least 14 days prior to the event. Contracts signed by students are not honored by the university and are the personal legal and financial responsibility of the student.
• Events have a four-hour time limit, unless an exception is authorized by the venue manager.

• Sponsoring groups or hosts are responsible for the space in which the event is held, including the area immediately adjacent to their space (e.g., outside areas, benches, etc.).

• Strippers may not be invited or paid to perform at events sponsored by individual students or groups.

• Sponsoring groups or hosts are expected to follow through with risk management policies identified by the space manager(s) authorizing their event.

• After an event, groups are responsible for restoring the space to its original condition.

• Duke Police will determine whether the sponsoring group will be required to have police officer(s) monitor the event. Requests for Duke Police or other security must be made by Conference and Event Services (CES) on behalf of student organizations no less than 10 days in advance of the event.

• Students must secure the rights to publicly screen films/movies on campus. Visit studentaffairs.duke.edu/ucae/planning-event/useful-event-contacts/entertainment-contacts for more information.

• Decorations must adhere to the university’s policy, found in “Appendix H — Theme Parties and Decorations” on page 98. The most current policy can be found online at www.safety.duke.edu/FireSafety. In conjunction with OESO, the campus unit responsible for the space being utilized may provide special permission for alterations to the policy on a case-by-case basis.

Promotion of Events with Alcohol

See “Promotion of Events with Alcohol” on page 21 in “Undergraduate Policies.”

Conferences and Conventions

Event registration of conferences and conventions must occur prior to issuance of invitations to individuals or to organizations outside the university. Consultation with CES must occur prior to issuance of invitations to individuals or to organizations outside the university. It is the established policy of the university not to use its residence hall facilities for the housing of convention guests during the academic year. The university does, however, reserve the right to use residence hall rooms for special guests during announced vacations.
Space Requests

Various units on campus manage their individual spaces. Each venue may have its own unique usage policies. Event hosts must follow the policies in this guide as well as specific venue policies. Information for reservable spaces not listed here may be found at studentaffairs.duke.edu/ucae/space-reservations.

Appendix A — The Judicial System of Duke University

The judicial system of the university shall consist of the University Judicial Board and a judicial board for each of the communities hereafter defined. (The undergraduate judicial system is part of the larger university judicial system.)

Authority Over Policies and Procedures

Responsibility for prescribing and enforcing rules and regulations governing student conduct rests ultimately with the Board of Trustees of Duke University and, by delegation, with administrative officers of the university and of the college and school.

The policies and procedures governing the conduct of undergraduate students may be amended at any time by the Vice President for Student Affairs and may be implemented with adequate notice to the university community.

Community Judicial Boards

There shall be an undergraduate community consisting of the undergraduates in Trinity College of Arts and Sciences and the Pratt School of Engineering; a Divinity School community; a Fuqua School of Business community; a Law School community; a Medical School community; an Allied Health community consisting of all degree and certificate (i.e., paramedical, nondegree) students in the School of Allied Health; a Nicholas School of the Environment and Earth Sciences community; a School of Nursing community; and a Graduate School community. Each community shall have such judicial system as its governing body may provide.

The University Judicial Board

Jurisdiction

The jurisdiction of the University Judicial Board shall be limited to cases arising out of the pickets and protests regulations and cases involving more than one of the communities as determined by the Vice President for Student Affairs in consultation with the president and the chair of the University Judicial Board.

The University Judicial Board shall have jurisdiction over members of the student body, members of the faculty, and administrative personnel of the university not subject to the Personnel Policy Manual.

However, all alleged violations of the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy in which a student is named as a respondent are handled through the procedures outlined in “Student Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures” (see page 39).
Filing of Charges; Responsibilities of Vice President for Student Affairs

- The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs shall have responsibility for receiving complaints, conducting investigations, and preferring charges concerning offenses within the jurisdiction of the board.

- The University Judicial Board shall hear no case without a finding of probable cause made by the Vice President for Student Affairs, whose signature to the charge or charges shall constitute sufficient evidence of such finding.

- To assist the Vice President for Student Affairs in the investigation of complaints, the gathering of evidence, and the preparation of charges, investigative and judicial aides may be appointed by the Vice President and shall serve at his/her pleasure and under his/her direction. The number and specific duties of such aides shall be determined by the Vice President for Student Affairs, who shall be fully responsible for all duties performed by them in their capacity as aides.

- The Vice President for Student Affairs shall subpoena witnesses as directed by the University Judicial Board.

- The Vice President for Student Affairs may delegate all or any portion of his/her duties as regards these judicial procedures to an aide or aides. The Vice President for Student Affairs shall be responsible for the discharge of all duties thus delegated.

Membership

The University Judicial Board shall consist of a chair appointed by the president, five faculty members (two of whom shall be from the Law School) appointed by the Executive Committee of the Academic Council, and two student members from each of the communities (except in the case of the undergraduate community where there should be four members) elected by each community’s judicial board. The chair of the board shall select five-person panels consisting of a chair and an equal number of students and faculty. Cases referred to the board shall be assigned to the panels in rotation, provided that a member of a panel may, at his/her request, be excused from sitting on a case by the chair of the board, who may appoint a substitute from among the other members of the board. Each panel shall be known as a “Hearing Committee of the University Judicial Board.”

Terms of Members

Faculty members shall normally serve for two-year terms, but are eligible for reappointment. The terms should be staggered in order to provide continuity. Two of the initial appointees shall be appointed for one-year terms. Student members shall serve for one-year terms, although they may be eligible for re-election. The board has the right to remove any member of the board for cause by a vote of a two-thirds majority of all members. The vacancy shall be filled promptly according to the original procedure.

Conduct of the Hearing

- The hearing will be conducted in private unless the accused requests an open hearing. If any objection is raised to conducting an open hearing in any particular case, the Hearing Committee of the University Judicial Board will decide the issue by majority vote. If the decision is made not to hold an open hearing, the accused shall be informed in writing of the reasons for the decision.

- The university and the accused may be represented by an adviser of his/her choice.

- The board shall promulgate its own rules of procedure consistent with academic due process and all provisions of this document.

- The accused has the right to challenge on the grounds of prejudice any member of the Hearing Committee sitting on his/her case. If an accused makes such a challenge, the Hearing Committee shall deliberate in private to determine whether cause exists. By a majority vote of the members of the tribunal (excluding the member being challenged), a member shall be removed from the case and replaced by a member of the board designated by the chair of the Judicial Board. In addition, the accused may exercise a challenge directed at the entire panel, in which case the challenge shall be made to the chair of the University Judicial Board, who shall excuse the panel challenged and refer the accused’s case to the next panel in rotation.

The Right of Appeal

- In cases heard by the University Judicial Board, there will be no appeal when the accused is acquitted, except in cases of harassment or discrimination, in which case a complainant may appeal the accused’s acquittal.

- A student or administrator who is not a member of the faculty convicted by the University Judicial Board may appeal to the president, or in his/her absence, the provost, in which case such appeal shall be solely on the record of the proceedings before the Hearing Committee. Argument or appeal shall be on written submission, but the president may, in addition, require oral argument.

- A member of the faculty convicted by the University Judicial Board may appeal to the Faculty Hearing Committee authorized under the provisions for Academic Freedom and Tenure of Duke University.

Status of the Accused

Charges must be prepared without delay following the alleged commission of the offense. Pending final verdict on charges against the accused (including appeal), his/her status shall not be changed, nor his/her right to be on campus to attend classes suspended, except that the president or provost may impose an interim suspension upon any member of the university community who demonstrates, by his/her conduct, that his/her continued presence on the campus constitutes an immediate threat to the physical well-being or property of the members of the university community or the orderly functioning of the university. The imposition of interim suspension requires that the suspended individual shall immediately observe any restriction placed upon him/her by the terms of the suspension. The suspended individual shall be entitled to a hearing within three (3) days before the Hearing Committee on the formal charges. If he/she requires additional time to prepare his/her case before the Hearing Committee, he/she shall be entitled to an informal review of the decision imposing interim suspension by a three-person committee chosen from the members of the University Judicial Board by its chair. Interim suspension is an extraordinary remedy which will be invoked only in extreme cases where the interest of the university and members of its community require immediate action before the Hearing Committee can adjudicate formal charges against the suspended individual. If interim suspension is imposed and the accused is later found innocent, the university shall seek restitution as provided by the Hearing Committee with respect to the student’s academic responsibilities incurred during the period of suspension.

Civil and Criminal Courts

Members of the university community may be subject to civil or criminal proceedings in a local court. The president may initiate legal action seeking injunctive or other civil relief, or file criminal charges, when it is necessary to protect the person or property of members of the university community, or the orderly functioning or property of the university. Such action may be in addition to the filing of formal charges before the University Judicial Board and/or interim suspension.
Sanctions

A Hearing Committee of the University Judicial Board shall have the power to impose the following penalties upon students:

- Expulsion. Dismissal from the university with the recommendation that the person never be readmitted.
- Suspension. Dismissal from the university and from participation in all university activities for a specified period of time after which the subject may apply for readmission.
- Disciplinary Probation. Placing a student on a probationary status for a specified period of time, during which conviction of any regulation may result in more serious disciplinary action.
- Exclusion from participation in extracurricular activities. Without limiting the generality of that penalty, such restrictions might involve participation in any collegiate athletics, or any public participation or performance in the name of the university. However, a hearing committee may not exclude a person from performance of the duties of an elective office, but may make such a recommendation to the appropriate organization. This penalty may be imposed by itself or in addition to any of the other enumerated penalties.
- Censure. Written reprimand for violation of the specified regulation, including the possibility of more severe disciplinary sanction in the event of conviction for the violation of the same or one of equal seriousness within the period of time stated by the reprimand.
- Admonition. By an oral statement to the offender that he/she has violated the university rules or has been in contempt of the board.
- Restitution. Payment for all, or a portion of property damage caused during the commission of an offense. This penalty may be imposed by itself, or in addition to any of the other penalties.
• Fines. Payment of reasonable sums to be determined by a hearing committee. This penalty may be imposed by itself, or in addition to any of the other penalties.

• Exclusion from social activities where the nature of the violation so indicates including, but not limited to, curfews or other revocation of upperclass privileges.

A Hearing Committee of the University Judicial Board shall have the power to impose the following penalties upon faculty members and administrative personnel not subject to the provisions of the Personnel Policy Manual.

• Dismissal. Dismissal or termination of appointment.
• Censure.
• Admonition.
• Restitution.
• Fines.

Other Powers

The Hearing Committee may recommend to the university that it seek restitution with respect to the accused’s university responsibilities incurred during a period of suspension or during the period when a hearing has been conducted or shall make such other nonpunitive recommendations with respect to the accused as it shall deem appropriate.

Records

The board shall promptly arrange a policy of keeping its own records, subject to the university policy on confidentiality.

Excusal of Members of the University Community from University Obligations

Any member of the university community whose presence is required at a hearing shall be excused from the performance of any university responsibilities which would normally be performed at the time when his/her presence is required before the Hearing Committee.

Appendix B — Optional, One-time Faculty-Student Resolution Process for Cases of Academic Dishonesty Involving Undergraduates

This option for resolving cases of academic dishonesty is reserved for first-time, minor infractions by Duke undergraduates. The faculty member must first contact the Office of Student Conduct to discuss the appropriateness of this option with respect to the nature of the offense, as well as to learn of any prior violations by the student. If there is no record of prior offenses and the case appears to be one that, if adjudicated by a hearing panel, would result in probation or a sanction less severe than probation, it may be resolved between the faculty member and the student. Otherwise, the case must be forwarded to the Office of Student Conduct.

A faculty-student resolution may result in a reduced grade on the assignment, a reduced grade in the course, additional assignments, and/or other educational initiatives. (The outcome must be agreed upon by both parties.)

The faculty member must report the outcome(s) of a faculty-student resolution to the Office of Student Conduct for record keeping. This resolution will not become part of the student’s external disciplinary record unless there is a second violation, at which time both cases will be noted on the student’s disciplinary record.
Process

- The faculty member shall first contact the Office of Student Conduct to discuss the appropriateness of this option with respect to the nature of the offense, as well as to learn of any prior violations. Staff in the Office of Student Conduct may be reached at 919-684-6938.
- If the student has no record of prior offenses and the case appears to be one that, if adjudicated by a hearing panel, would result in probation or a sanction less severe than probation, it may be resolved between the faculty member and the student.
- The faculty member shall meet with the student and present any information relevant to the case.
- The student shall have an opportunity to respond to the allegations.
- If the faculty member believes that academic dishonesty has occurred, the faculty member should complete a Faculty-Student Resolution form, including the proposed outcome, and present this form to the student. The form may be found on the website of the Office of Student Conduct website at studentaffairs.duke.edu/conduct/undergraduate-disciplinary-system/types-resolution/faculty-student-resolutions.
- Upon receipt of the proposed resolution, the student has 48 hours to consider and seek advice on whether to accept responsibility and agree to the resolution.
- If the student agrees to the resolution, she/he should sign the resolution form in the presence of the faculty member. The faculty member should then forward a copy of the form to the Office of Student Conduct (Box 90893).
- If the student does not accept the proposed resolution, the faculty member should refer the case to the Office of Student Conduct.

Appendix C — Administrative Action Policy

Policy
The Vice President for Student Affairs or designee may take administrative action(s) against an undergraduate student (or, if pursuant to the Student Sexual Misconduct Policy, a graduate or professional student) and/or a student group to protect the health, safety, or welfare of the university community or any member of it. Administrative action includes, but is not limited to, a “no contact” directive, removal of privileges, removal from or relocation within the residential community, suspension of activity, and/or suspension from the university. If administrative action is issued while a disciplinary action is pending, such action may remain in effect until the disciplinary process is resolved.

Procedure
- Any member of the university community who has reason to believe that a student or student group may pose a threat to the health, safety, or welfare of the university community or any member of it should contact the Vice President for Student Affairs or other staff within Student Affairs as appropriate.
- The Vice President for Student Affairs or designee will conduct a preliminary review of available information and, where necessary and appropriate, gather additional information. If feasible under the circumstances, the Vice President for Student Affairs or designee will meet with the student in question before taking administrative action.
• Based on the available information, the Vice President for Student Affairs or designee shall determine whether administrative action is warranted. The Vice President for Student Affairs or designee will prepare a written statement identifying the administrative action(s), the time period such action(s) is/are in effect, and the reasons for the administrative action(s).

Appendix D — Fraternity and Sorority Recognition

Recognition is the formal process by which Duke University permits a fraternity or sorority to function on campus, conduct membership/intake activities, and be considered part of the university. For a fraternal organization to obtain recognition through the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life (FSL), it must:

• Operate under a constitution and bylaws that have been approved by FSL and one of the recognized Greek Governing Councils: Interfraternity Council (IFC), Multicultural Greek Council (MGC), National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC), Panhellenic Association (Panhel).

• Demonstrate sound financial standing.

• Be affiliated with an inter/national fraternity or sorority.

• Present an initial membership list of at least three (3) currently registered, degree-seeking students who are not on academic or disciplinary probation. (While Duke recognizes that some organizations share membership with other colleges and universities, this relationship is prohibited by FSL.)

• Identify a person, who is not an undergraduate, to serve as the chapter advisor.

• Maintain general liability insurance with minimum limits of $1,000,000 per occurrence, $3,000,000 aggregate. A certificate of insurance evidencing current coverage must be provided to the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life on an annual basis as a part of maintaining university recognition.

The university does not recognize local chapters.

The Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life determines, with the input of the appropriate Greek governing council, the status of recognized fraternity and sorority chapters. If a chapter no longer meets any or all of the above-stated conditions for full recognition or, as a provisionally recognized group, is not making sufficient progress towards full recognition, then full or provisional recognition may be withdrawn or the chapter may be placed on probation with suspended privileges. In addition, FSL and the governing councils support any sanctions given to chapters by their inter/national headquarters office.

The suspension of privileges may include, but is not limited to:

• Reservation and free usage of campus space.

• Participation in new member recruitment and intake activities.

• Ability to host/co-sponsor events on and off campus.

• Participation in community-wide events, education programs, intramural sports and service/philanthropy initiatives.

• Membership in one of the recognized Greek governing councils.

Fraternity and Sorority Membership Recruitment/Intake

Membership may be extended to students in the spring of their first year. Upperclass students may receive bids, or invitations to join recognized chapters, at any time during the academic year.
Appendix E — Recognized Student Organizations

Each student organization adds to the social, cultural, and intellectual environment of Duke. The university recognizes the contributions that student organizations make to the quality of life on campus and strives to support its own mission to “attending not only to [students’] intellectual growth but also to their development as adults committed to high ethical standards and full participation as leaders in their communities” (Duke University Mission Statement, 2001).

Recognition of any organization is not to be interpreted as an endorsement by the university of the purpose, activities, political position, or point of view of the organization.

Recognition Sources

The university identifies two (2) primary recognition sources for undergraduate student organizations: Student Organization Finance Committee (SOFC) and departmental.

1. The Student Organization Finance Committee (SOFC) of the Duke Student Government (DSG) is the major student organization recognition source; the financial, risk management, and policy authority for these organizations rests with the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Standards of Recognition. All undergraduate student organizations must align with the following basic standards:

• Have a unique mission that differentiates it from other recognized organizations.
• Be comprised of at least ten (10) members. All members are Duke-affiliated and at least fifty percent (50%) are currently enrolled undergraduate students. All leadership positions must be occupied by undergraduate students.
• Have a president, who oversees the operations and mission of the organization, and a treasurer, who oversees the financial health of the organization. These officer positions may be labeled differently within the organization but will be named as above for official university purposes. The position of the president must be voted in democratically through the organization. Both the president and the treasurer are responsible for attending and completing the required annual trainings offered through University Center Activities and Events (UCAE).
• Have a full-time faculty or staff member serve as an advisor. An organization advisor helps their organization grow and develop its activities in the spirit of the highest ideals of the Duke mission.
• List current mission statement, officers, and advisor on the official student organization directory DukeGroups (dukegroups.com) annually. The Division of Student Affairs maintains the official list of student organizations regardless of recognition source.
• Create and keep a constitution that defines:
  • The official name of the organization
  • The recognition source of the organization (SOFC or Department)
  • The mission of the organization (must not violate any university, local, state, or federal policies/laws)
  • The requirements of membership in the organization
  • Acknowledgement that the actions and opinions of the group are independent of Duke University and do not reflect the actions and opinions of the university as a whole
• Alignment with the Duke University equal opportunity (non-discrimination) statement:
  • Duke University prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal [membership] opportunity without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, sex, genetic information, or age
  • Maintain a positive balance of funds in any university-granted financial account

For more information about student organizations please visit University Center Activities and Events (UCAE) in the Bryan Center or online at studentaffairs.duke.edu/ucae.

2. University schools, departments, and offices may also recognize student organizations or student ventures in congruence with their standards; the financial, risk management, and policy authority for these organizations or ventures rest with the department/program of the entity that bestows recognition.

All student groups are required to be knowledgeable of and abide by policies in the UCAE Student Organization handbook available on the UCAE website. UCAE reserves the right to update policies.

Appendix F — Information and Resources Concerning Substance Use

Health Effects of Alcohol and Other Drugs

Psychoactive drugs are a class of drugs most frequently used socially or recreationally (and often illegally). These drugs act on the central nervous system (CNS), or more specifically the brain, creating altered states of consciousness. They may increase CNS activity (stimulants, such as cocaine, crack, amphetamines), decrease CNS activity (depressants, such as alcohol, barbiturates, tranquilizers), cause the creation of illusions (hallucinogens, such as LSD, peyote, mushrooms, PCP), or have a combined effect (marijuana). Every drug has multiple effects on the brain and the body. Addiction to any of these substances is a disease that affects the sufferer mentally, emotionally, physically, and spiritually. It can also have a profound effect on those closest to the addicted person.

Short Term or Acute Effects

Impaired judgment (violent behavior, physical injuries, accidents), unpredictable mood swings, acute psychotic episodes, risky sexual behaviors (unplanned pregnancy, impaired sexual response, sexually transmitted diseases), sexual assault, rape, hangovers, increased nervousness, tremors, shortness of breath, anxiety/panic reactions, reduced energy and stamina, digestive problems (nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, ulcer irritation), dehydration, halitosis, cardiovascular changes, seizures, loss of consciousness, death.

Long Term or Chronic Effects

• Systemic Disorders. Increased heart rate, increased or sudden decrease in blood pressure, hyperactivity, decreased oxygen in blood supply to the brain, decreased immune system function, AIDS or hepatitis from needle sharing, reverse tolerance, hemorrhage, delirium tremens (D.T.s) from acute withdrawal, death.

• Brain/Central Nervous System Disorders. Short-term memory loss, concentration difficulties, damaged nerve connections, disruption of “chemical messengers.”

Appendix G — Patient Privacy

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, or HIPAA, includes a privacy rule that creates national standards to protect individuals’ personal health information. These standards were implemented by the Duke Health Enterprise on April 14, 2003.

Duke Student Health, Counseling and Psychological Services, and the Office of Gender Violence Prevention and Intervention comply with these standards. All incoming students are asked to review and electronically sign the HIPAA notice as part of the immunization and health history process. Students who have not yet received the Notice of Privacy Practices brochure, which describes how medical information may be used and disclosed and how one can get access to this information, will receive this at the first visit.

Appendix H — Theme Parties and Decorations

This policy applies to all Duke University facilities to include Campus, Medical Center, Hospital and Health System. All students, visitors, and employees must adhere to this policy when planning a theme party, event, meeting, or decorating any work area. Notify OESO-Fire & Life Safety as soon as possible but no less than 72 hours prior to the placement of decorations.

General Restrictions

• The use of pyrotechnics by individuals or performers is prohibited on campus.
• All decorations (to include artificial greenery such as wreaths and holly) must be non-combustible, inherently flame resistant or treated with an approved fire retardant in accordance with the manufacturer’s specifications that will pass NFPA 701 test.

- Decorative materials shall not exceed 10% of the aggregate of wall and ceilings.
- Straw, hay, corn fodder, dried flowers, bamboo, and other similar decorations are prohibited as decoration inside facilities without written authorization from the OESO Fire & Life Safety Division.
- Combustible decorations shall be prohibited in all healthcare occupancies (Hospital, Duke Clinic, PDC, etc.) unless they are flame retardant. (Exception: combustible decorations, such as photographs and paintings, in such limited quantities that a hazard of fire development or spread is not present).
- Fog and smoke machines may not be used inside facilities without written authorization of the OESO Fire & Life Safety Division.
- Animal(s), regardless of size or species, are strictly prohibited to attend or participate in any event, party, or meeting.
- Water, waterfalls, pools, spraying water, running water, or utilizing water in any way is strictly prohibited.
- All doors (i.e., exit, smoke, fire, interior, exterior), hallways or any other means of egress may not be covered or blocked in any manner by decorations.
- Trash must not be allowed to accumulate, but collected in appropriate containers during the event and removed at the close of the event.

Electrical Safety and Holiday Lighting

- Electrical lights (110 volts) and fiber optic lights (110 volts) may be used on artificial Christmas trees, wreaths and greenery, but may not be used on any live Christmas trees or greenery.
- All electrical lights, electrical equipment, animated or electrical decorations must be UL listed.
- Manufacturer’s instructions and precautions shall be followed.
- Each living group or office should have an appointed representative to ensure that the electrical decorations are de-energized at the end of the day.
- Any light string with worn, frayed, broken cords, loose bulb connections, and empty sockets shall not be used.
- Use of holiday lights and light strings shall be limited to reduce overheating.
- Lights shall not have more than three strings of light connected to each other.
- The use of lights and wiring on metal Christmas trees (aluminum trees from the ’50s and ’60s as defined by the NC Department of Insurance) is prohibited. Fiber optic and pre-wired artificial trees are acceptable as long as they are UL listed.
Only indoor lights will be used inside facilities.

Light strings or electrical decorations shall be de-energized before replacing bulbs or fuses.

Light strings must be mounted in a manner that will not damage the cord’s insulation.

Light strings should be plugged directly into an outlet or an electrical power strip with built-in circuit breaker.

General. All combustible party decorations shall be removed from the area immediately following the event.

Exception. During the holiday season decorations shall be removed no later than December 30th. Residence halls shall have all decorations removed no later than the closing of the residence halls by Residence Life and Housing Services.

Live Greenery and Christmas Trees. Live greenery, such as Christmas trees, pine wreaths and holly, are prohibited inside of Hospital and Medical Center buildings. In addition, live greenery is prohibited in assembly areas, education facilities, schools, day cares, stores, businesses, residence halls, and hotels unless the building is protected throughout with an approved automatic sprinkler system.

If a live Christmas tree is allowed in a facility, the following rules apply:

- Only one tree will be purchased for each department, group or living group and the tree will be located in a public area such as a commons area, reception area or lounge.
- All trees will be prepared by sawing off the trunk of the tree at an angle at least one-half inch or more above the original cut and spraying the tree with an approved fire retardant in accordance with the manufacturer’s specifications as required by NC State Building Code.
- The tree will be placed within a tree holder/stand capable of containing water to prevent drying. The stand will be checked daily to assure the water level is adequate. Remember: A tree will absorb large quantities of water while it is indoors.
- The tree will be placed in a location away from all heat sources.
- Smoking or open flames shall be prohibited near live greenery.
- The tree shall be removed from the facility whenever the needles or leaves fall off readily when a tree branch is shaken or if the needles are brittle and break when bent between the thumb and the index finger, or by December 30, whichever occurs first.

Artificial greenery may be utilized if it meets the general and electrical requirements as listed above.

Candle Safety. It is a violation of university policy to light any material on fire on campus. Candles, other open flame devices, grills, incense, and any other flame/heat producing items are strictly forbidden for use inside university facilities except during official religious ceremonies, such as the observance of Chanukah. Permission for use of any open flame devices (including those used for religious ceremonies) must be obtained from OESO Fire & Life Safety Division prior to use. A copy of the signed approval letter must be maintained at the location approved for an open flame device.

Whenever possible, substitute open flame candles with battery operated or electrical powered candles.
Appendix I — Patents and Intellectual Property

Duke’s mission lies in the creation and dissemination of knowledge through (1) recognizing and acknowledging the right of intellectual property ownership, (2) encouraging the pursuit of patents and licenses, and (3) ensuring sufficient records are maintained.

Duke University is committed to the personal ownership of intellectual property rights by the creators of the intellectual works.

For further information, please visit provost.duke.edu/wp-content/uploads/FHB_App_P.pdf.

Appendix J — Missing Student Notification

In accordance with the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008, Duke University has developed a policy for notifying the designated emergency contact in ACES for a student who is determined to be missing.

A student may be deemed missing if it is reported to appropriate university officials (Duke Police, Residence Coordinator on-Call, or the Dean on-Call) that the student has been unreachable via personal contact, telephone, e-mail, or other means of electronic communication for 24 hours or more. A Residence Coordinator on-Call or Dean on-Call who receives such a report will immediately report it to Duke University Police.

Upon determination by Duke University Police that a student is missing, the designated emergency contact will be notified as soon as possible but no later than 24 hours after that determination. The student’s custodial parent or guardian will also be notified if that person is not the designated emergency contact and the student is under 18 years of age and not an emancipated individual.

Students are encouraged to periodically review and update their emergency contact information in ACES. Students may enter in ACES a separate “Missing Person” emergency contact or contacts, which will remain confidential and shared only with appropriate university personnel.

Appendix K — Consequences of Copyright Infringement

Unauthorized distribution of copyrighted material, including peer-to-peer file sharing, may subject you to criminal or civil liability. Punishment for this unauthorized use or distribution can be severe: violation of federal copyright laws can range from imprisonment to hefty fines. For instance, online infringement of copyrighted music can be punished by up to five years in prison and/or $250,000 in fines, and you may be held liable for damages up to $150,000 per infringed copyright. To learn more about Duke University’s policy on unauthorized peer-to-peer file sharing, including disciplinary actions that the university may take against students who engage in unauthorized distribution of copyright materials using the university’s information technology system, please visit the website of the Dean of Students Office at studentaffairs.duke.edu/dos/riaa-file-sharing, which provides additional information on the application of copyright law to peer-to-peer file sharing.
